Ionox has is pleased to release a recent customer review of their Ionox auto tire pressure gauge. A satisfied customer posted the five-star review just last week, on May 21. The verified purchase reviewer noted the gauges accuracy and value.

?We really value the input from our customers. It?s always great to get any kind of feedback, be it positive or negative. In the case of our digital tire pressure gauge, we find that the feedback tends to be positive, but we take in any constructive criticism we receive. It helps us improve our product and our performance as a company,? said an Ionox spokesperson.

The recently published review states: ?This little guy fits the bill for tire maintenance! Checking your tire pressure helps with fuel mileage and makes your driving safer. I bought this gauge to replace a very accurate, manual tire pressure gauge that is quite large and needs two hands to manipulate. This gauge is compact and being a metal body, has a great feel in yor hand. The built in LED light helps get you on to the tire valve in low light conditions and the multiple scales (PSI, KPA, etc) lets you read the pressure in the scale you feel comfortable with. The backlight on the gauge face and the connection end is blue, which gives a better contrast than the red ones I've used before. Accuracy matches my more expensive gauges and with a 150 PSI max, all your vehicle and trailer tires can be checked with just one gauge. Auto shut off saves batteries.?

The reviewer also mentions the versatility of the tire pressure gauge, which can measure pressures up to 150PSI, and as low as .5 PSI. That means the gauge is suitable for a wide range of vehicles, include cars, bicycles, motorcycles, trailers, tractors, RVs, ATVs and more. Many customers have recommended purchasing multiple gauges?one for every vehicle.

The easy-to-use, backlit digital tire pressure gauges are available for the low price of $8.95 and $9.95 depending on the color purchased. The color options include silver and black. To find out more, visit <http://www.amazon.com/auto-tire-pressure-gauge/dp/b00zur5jek/>
