

Ionox Releases Their Cherry Pitter in Vibrant Red Color

June 05, 2016

June 05, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Ionox sour cherry pitter was recently added on Amazon, and Ionox is excited to offer its customers the pitter in a vibrant red color. Previously only available in black, the new red color complements the cherries the pitter is used with. The red color was just made available this week.

Ionox's cherry pitter features a heavy-duty zinc alloy body that increases its pitting power and durability. This material prevents a metallic flavor from rubbing off onto the fruit. The spring action part of the pitter is sealed-off to prevent fruit pieces from collecting inside. This makes clean-up easier, and can be accomplished in the dishwasher or with water and a mild soap.

Customers can purchase the red pitter with a 100% satisfaction guarantee on Amazon. The tool is constructed from high-quality zinc alloy, and allows users to pit cherries quickly and efficiently.

According to the product's description on Amazon, the pitter promises "perfect cherries every time: Our cherry pit remover works great for Bing and Rainier cherries, as well as small and large cherries. Won't bruise cherries, no mess or minimal wasted fruit. If your goal is to have whole cherries that are not smashed or deformed this is the perfect tool. Easy to use for baking, canning, freezing, dehydrating and just eating cherries."

?We?re very proud of the new design of our cherry pitters. While the black pitter offers a sleek, traditional kitchen tool look, the red is a modern, vibrant option for home cooks and restaurant chefs alike!?
