June 06, 2016 -

Ionox is now selling their Ionox infused water bottle at their Amazon page at a 36% discount off the original price of $35.95. The bottle, which is available in five vibrant colors, is available now for $12.95 on the Amazon storefront. The five colors include purple, turquoise, blue, pink, and fan-favorite, green.

Infuser water bottles are designed to mix a subtle fruit flavor in water. The stems provided with the bottle can be filled with the fruit or vegetable of the customers choice. The short infuser gives off a subtler flavor, while the longer infusion stem provides a longer-lasting, more intense flavor.

The infusers also come with a filter that prevents stems and pulp from entering the mouthpiece when customers take a sip.

Many customers on Amazon have reported that their water intake levels have drastically increased since purchasing the infuser bottle. They've posted recipes that include exciting mixes like lemon and lime, strawberry and blueberry, and watermelon and basil. The bottles make it easy for users to completely customize their hydration experience?from the color of the bottle to the fruit they infuse with.

The Tritan Eastman BPA-free co-polyester material of the infuser is FDA food and beverage safe, as well as durable and ergonomically formed to the hand, with grips for the users fingers.

Ionox is a Colorado-based retailer that was founded in 2008. They pride themselves on outstanding customer service and high-quality, high-value items.

The infuser water bottles are available now at Amazon, and come with a 100% satisfaction guarantee. To learn more about the discount, and to purchase, visit <http://www.amazon.com/infused-water-bottle/dp/b00nal3bpw/>.
