Skin Artistry Clinic Alamo Introduces PRF Therapy for Natural Skin and Hair Restoration

September 21, 2026

Alamo, California - September 21, 2026 -
Skin Artistry Clinic Alamo has added Platelet-Rich Fibrin (PRF) therapy to its menu of aesthetic services, expanding options for patients seeking natural skin rejuvenation, under-eye brightening, and hair restoration in the region. The physician-led medical spa, based in Alamo, California, now offers the treatment to residents of Alamo, Danville, Walnut Creek, San Ramon, and the surrounding communities.

PRF therapy is a biological treatment created from a patient's own blood, with no synthetic additives. During a session, a small blood sample is drawn and processed through a low-speed centrifuge that separates platelets and growth factors into a fibrin gel. Once placed, the gel releases growth factors gradually over seven to ten days, supporting collagen production, thickening under-eye tissue, and stimulating dormant hair follicles. The approach is often described as the next evolution of Platelet-Rich Plasma, or PRP, because the lower spin speed preserves delicate platelets and white blood cells that faster processing can damage.

The treatment is performed by Dr. Faiqa Chaudhry, a board-certified physician with more than a decade of experience in primary care, preventive medicine, and aesthetic medicine. Each PRF plan begins with a consultation reviewing the patient's health history, platelet levels, and goals to determine whether the treatment is appropriate. Typical protocols involve three to four sessions spaced four to six weeks apart, with results building over two to three months.

"PRF therapy reflects a shift toward regenerative approaches that rely on the body's own repair mechanisms rather than synthetic materials," said a spokesperson for Skin Artistry Clinic. "Introducing this service allows patients across the East Bay to explore a gentle, biocompatible option for concerns such as under-eye hollows, fine lines, and thinning hair."

The addition of PRF therapy in East Bay broadens the range of regenerative care available at the Alamo location, complementing existing offerings that include neuromodulator treatments, dermal fillers, IPL skin rejuvenation, laser hair removal, and longevity medicine. Because PRF is derived entirely from a patient's own blood, it carries minimal risk of allergic reaction, making it suitable for individuals sensitive to conventional fillers.

The clinic notes that PRF is generally not recommended for those with active skin infections, blood or clotting disorders, active cancer, or for patients who are pregnant or breastfeeding. Individual results vary based on skin type, age, and overall health.

"Every treatment at the clinic is performed by a physician, and each plan is tailored to a patient's overall skin health rather than a single standard protocol," the spokesperson added. "This new face aesthetic treatment fits naturally within that patient-centered model."
