

Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort Announces Expansion of Animal Grooming Services

September 15, 2026

September 15, 2026 -

Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort has announced an expansion of its grooming services, adding to the range of pet care options available to residents in the Glen Burnie community. The development follows increased demand for grooming services that address the needs of pets across different breeds, sizes, ages, and coat types.

The expansion adds to the services already offered at Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort, which provides veterinary care, boarding, and other pet-related services to suit a wide range of residents and their animal companions. The facility's expanded animal grooming in Glen Burnie, MD is intended to provide pet owners with additional options for routine coat and hygiene maintenance while complementing other aspects of their pets' care.

The grooming program includes standard services such as hair clipping, brushing, bathing, and nail trimming. More specialized options include deshedding treatments and grooming approaches tailored to individual breeds. Groomers work with pets with different coat characteristics and temperaments, with services adjusted according to each animal's grooming requirements.

The facility has also added grooming equipment and pet-safe products as part of the expansion. According to the organization, the goal is to create a controlled and comfortable environment while allowing grooming staff to address routine hygiene needs. The announcement reflects a broader trend among pet care facilities toward offering multiple services in one location as pet owners seek convenient ways to manage regular care.

Regular grooming can play a role in maintaining an animal's hygiene and overall condition. Brushing and bathing can help manage excess hair, dirt, and buildup, while nail care can help prevent nails from becoming excessively long. Grooming sessions may also give trained professionals an opportunity to notice visible changes involving a pet's skin, coat, or body that may warrant attention from a veterinarian.

Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort has also announced an educational blog focused on pet grooming and care. The resource is expected to include information from veterinary and grooming professionals covering topics such as grooming frequency, coat maintenance, breed-specific considerations, and ways owners can maintain their pets between professional appointments.

The educational initiative is designed to give pet owners practical information about grooming beyond individual appointments. Articles will address common grooming questions and provide general guidance intended to help owners better understand the relationship between routine grooming, hygiene, and pet care. Topics may also include seasonal coat changes, at-home brushing techniques, and considerations for pets that require more frequent grooming because of their coat type or lifestyle.

The expansion represents the latest development in Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort's efforts to broaden the services available to local pet owners. By combining veterinary, boarding, and grooming resources, the facility is continuing to develop a range of services addressing different aspects of companion animal care.

The organization said the expanded services are now available to local pet owners. Residents seeking information about animal grooming in Glen Burnie, MD can contact Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort directly for details regarding available services, scheduling, and grooming requirements. The facility welcomes inquiries from both existing clients and pet owners seeking information about its expanded offerings.

Noah's Ark Veterinary & Boarding Resort provides veterinary, boarding, and pet care services to the Glen Burnie community. The facility's services are designed to address a range of companion animal needs, from routine veterinary care and boarding to grooming and related pet care resources.
