

D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating Expands Furnace Repair Services

September 18, 2026

HANOVER, PA - September 18, 2026 -

D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating, a provider of plumbing and heating solutions, has announced the expansion of its furnace repair services in Hanover, PA. As the colder months approach, local residents may need to address heating system issues to keep their homes comfortable and operational.

With over two decades of experience in the plumbing and heating industry, D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating has established a presence in the local market. The company's technicians receive training in current furnace repair techniques and heating system technology, supporting its efforts to address a range of residential heating concerns.

The need for reliable furnace repair in Hanover, PA becomes increasingly pressing as temperatures begin to drop. D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating reports that its expanded services are intended to address heating system problems and help homeowners identify issues before they result in more significant disruptions during the winter season.

The company has also launched a dedicated blog focused on furnace maintenance and repair. The online resource provides homeowners with information about common heating system issues, preventive maintenance practices, and developments within the heating industry. The company says the goal is to give local residents additional information for maintaining their heating equipment.

As a family-owned business, D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating has roots in Hanover, PA. The company emphasizes communication and workmanship as part of its approach to serving local customers. Heating requirements can vary between homes, and the company works with customers to determine appropriate service options based on individual circumstances. This local focus is particularly relevant when homeowners are dealing with seasonal heating concerns and unexpected equipment issues. Through its furnace repair in Hanover, PA services, the company addresses heating problems while providing homeowners with information about potential repair needs and available service options.

The introduction of enhanced furnace repair services adds to D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating's existing heating offerings in the Hanover area. The company continues to invest in technician training and technology as heating equipment and industry requirements change.

D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating also provides other plumbing and heating services. Its offerings include routine maintenance, system installation, and emergency repairs, giving homeowners access to services covering several aspects of residential plumbing and heating.

As part of its community engagement efforts, D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating is offering complimentary furnace inspections for a limited time. The initiative is intended to help homeowners identify potential furnace problems before they develop into more significant repairs. Early inspections can also give residents an opportunity to address maintenance concerns before periods of heavier winter heating use. The inspection may help homeowners become aware of equipment issues that could otherwise go unnoticed during warmer months. It also provides an opportunity to evaluate furnace performance before colder weather places greater demand on residential heating systems. For homeowners preparing for the winter season, identifying potential concerns in advance can help reduce the likelihood of unexpected heating interruptions.

The company's expanded services come as homeowners prepare their heating systems for the demands of the winter season. Regular attention to furnace performance can help identify unusual noises, inconsistent heating, or other warning signs that may require professional attention.

Residents can learn more about the company's heating services and furnace maintenance resources through D E Wildasin & Son Plumbing & Heating's website. The company continues to serve homeowners in Hanover and the surrounding area with plumbing and heating services.
