

Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light Highlights Outdoor and Holiday Lighting Services for 2026 Season

October 29, 2026

NASHVILLE, TN - October 29, 2026 -
Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light is highlighting its outdoor lighting and seasonal décor services for homeowners and businesses throughout Nashville, Brentwood, Franklin, and surrounding Middle Tennessee communities as the region enters the fall and winter season.

The company offers a range of outdoor lighting solutions designed to enhance property aesthetics, extend the use of outdoor spaces into the evening, and provide additional illumination around homes and businesses. Services include architectural lighting, deck and patio lighting, exterior security lighting, water feature and underwater lights, and low-voltage systems suited to residential and commercial properties.

Alongside its permanent lighting installations, Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light provides full-service holiday lighting for the festive season. The service includes custom design, professional installation, mid-season maintenance and support, and post-season takedown. The company uses commercial-grade materials and begins projects with a design consultation to tailor displays to the property and the client's preferences.

?As the days grow shorter and the holiday season approaches, outdoor lighting can help property owners make their spaces more functional, welcoming, and festive," said a representative of Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light. ?Our goal is to provide clients with a coordinated approach to illumination that works for their property and complements how they use their outdoor spaces throughout the year.?

The company's landscape lighting services include custom design and installation, low-voltage lighting repair and troubleshooting, and annual maintenance agreements intended to keep systems operating reliably over time. Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light also handles interior and exterior light bulb replacement for high or hard-to-reach fixtures, helping property owners address routine lighting maintenance safely and efficiently.

Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light follows defined safety practices for its holiday lighting installations. The company does not install lights on steep or multi-story rooftops, and installations generally require a working, accessible, weatherproof GFCI exterior outlet. These parameters reflect the company's emphasis on safe and professional service delivery.

?The goal is to make outdoor spaces both functional and welcoming, whether that means highlighting architectural features year-round or creating a coordinated holiday display," a company representative added. "Every project is planned around the property itself and the way people intend to use their outdoor areas.?

Beyond illumination, the company continues to provide its established irrigation services, including new system installation, repair and troubleshooting, spring startup, winterization, backflow services, and annual maintenance agreements. It also offers precision ditch digging and trenching for conduit, drainage, and other underground projects, as well as storm debris cleanup services.

Aqueduct Irrigation?Southern Light is a licensed, bonded, and insured company based in the Nashville area, serving Nashville, Brentwood, Franklin, Belle Meade, Gallatin, Hendersonville, and surrounding Middle Tennessee communities. Aqueduct Irrigation was founded in 1988, with Southern Light established in 1993. The company installs and services lawn sprinkler systems and low-voltage lighting for residential and commercial clients throughout Middle Tennessee and provides services spanning irrigation, landscape and holiday illumination, trenching, and related outdoor property needs.
