

Hudson Dental Co. Establishes New Pleasantville Dental Office

September 22, 2026

September 22, 2026 -

Hudson Dental Co. established a new dental office at 60 Wheeler Avenue in Pleasantville, New York, under the leadership of Dr. Rahul Kallianpur. The practice brings general, cosmetic, restorative, and preventive dental services to the location, with digital dentistry and technology-supported treatment planning incorporated into its clinical approach.

In April 2024, the Pleasantville Architectural Review Board reviewed an application from Hudson Dental Co. concerning new business signage at its Wheeler Avenue location. Dr. Rahul Kallianpur participated in the review and discussed the proposed signage and limited exterior modifications associated with the dental office.

The application identified Hudson Dental Co. as a new office tenant at the property. The review formed part of the village's established process for evaluating exterior signage and related changes to commercial properties. The Wheeler Avenue location provides Hudson Dental Co. with a physical presence in Pleasantville, where the practice offers dental services under Kallianpur's leadership.

Since establishing the practice, Kallianpur has developed a clinical model that includes digital dentistry and cosmetic care. The practice identifies him as its owner and lead dentist and notes his education at NYU, residency training, and hundreds of hours of continuing education in cosmetic dentistry. His professional training also includes education through the Dawson Academy, Kois Learning Center, and Spear.

For patients researching a dentist in Pleasantville, NY, one notable aspect of the practice is its use of digital diagnostic and planning tools. Hudson Dental Co. identifies three-dimensional cone-beam computed tomography, or CBCT, as part of its preventive and restorative services. The imaging system is used to create three-dimensional scans that can assist with diagnostics and treatment planning.

The practice also incorporates Digital Smile Design into cases involving planned changes to the appearance of the smile. According to information published by Hudson Dental Co., the technology allows dental images to be digitally modified to help illustrate potential changes before treatment begins. The digital planning process gives the dental team a visual reference when discussing possible treatment options and aesthetic considerations with patients. Rather than serving as a standalone treatment, Digital Smile Design is used as part of the planning process for selected cases. Its use reflects the practice's broader focus on incorporating digital tools into dental evaluation, communication, and treatment planning.

Three-dimensional printing is another technology identified by the practice. Hudson Dental Co. describes its 3D printer as part of the workflow for surgical treatment. Digital impressions are also used for certain services, including clear aligner treatment, where digital imaging can capture the teeth and bite for treatment planning.

Kallianpur's professional focus includes cosmetic and digital dentistry. Hudson Dental Co. states that he serves as a Key Opinion Leader for Ivoclar and lectures other dental professionals on dental techniques. The practice also identifies his membership in the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry.

The office provides services spanning preventive dentistry, cosmetic procedures, dental implants, full-mouth rehabilitation, and clear aligner treatment. Its full-mouth rehabilitation service incorporates CBCT imaging, digital impressions, Digital Smile Design, and 3D printing within different stages of evaluation and treatment planning.

Hudson Dental Co. provides information about its services and clinical approach through its website. Additional details about the Pleasantville practice, available treatments, and patient resources can be found at <https://www.hudsondentalco.com/>.

Hudson Dental Co. is a dental practice led by Dr. Rahul Kallianpur at 60 Wheeler Avenue in Pleasantville, New York. The practice provides preventive, restorative, cosmetic, implant, and clear aligner services, incorporating digital imaging and planning technologies into selected areas of care.

###

For more information about Hudson Dental Co., contact the company here: Hudson Dental Co. Hudson Dental Co. (914) 745-9787 This is some text inside of a div block. hudsondentalco@gmail.com

Hudson Dental Co.

Website: <https://www.hudsondentalco.com/>

Email: hudsondentalco@gmail.com

Phone: (914) 745-9787 This is some text inside of a div block.