June 10, 2016 -

The Father's Day Sale from Ionox will begin today, June 10, and will include their popular Ionox low pressure tire gauge. Announced to customers earlier this week, the sale will include both the black and silver gauges, available at $9.95 and $8.95, respectively. The gauges will remain on sale through Father's Day, until June 20. The gauges are a popular gift item among customers, who have purchased them for new teen drivers, graduates and for fathers and husbands.

"We're glad our customers trust our brand enough to give our products as gifts to the important people in their lives. That's why we wanted to offer our gauges at a discounted price to celebrate Father's Day with our loyal customers!" said an Ionox representative.

Ionox digital tire gauges were recently on sale for Memorial Day weekend. The gauges were a popular item during this Ionox sale, and the company is expecting even more orders with Father's Day.

"We think a lot of dads, fathers and auto enthusiasts will love getting our gauge as a gift. It's a nice departure from traditional Father's Day gifts, like barbecue tools or a new tie. A tire pressure gauge is practical and long-lasting, especially with our satisfaction guarantee," said the spokesperson.

The digital tire pressure gauges are designed with a number of features to make them durable and easy-to-use. The die cast metal casing is ergonomically designed to fit small and large hands, and is covered in a non-slip rubberized grip. The grip provides added comfort, as well as support for use in poor weather.

The gauge also features a backlit display for use at nighttime and early morning. The gauge's nozzle is also lit, to guide customers towards their tire valve stems. The gauge measures in four scales, to 150PSI, 1000kPA, 10 Bar, 10 kg/cm2, in measurements as low as 0.5 PSI.
