JAG Plumbing Services, Inc. Launches New Website to Better Serve Palm Beach County Homeowners

September 24, 2026

LOXAHATCHEE, FL - September 24, 2026 -
JAG Plumbing Services, Inc., a locally owned residential plumbing company serving Loxahatchee and communities throughout Palm Beach County, is pleased to announce the launch of its new website. The redesigned online presence provides homeowners with a convenient resource for learning more about the company, exploring available plumbing services and requesting service.

The new website reflects JAG Plumbing Services? commitment to providing straightforward, dependable plumbing solutions and making the customer experience as simple as possible from the first point of contact. Visitors can learn about the company?s residential plumbing capabilities, explore individual services, review the communities served throughout Palm Beach County and easily contact the company when plumbing assistance is needed.

JAG Plumbing Services provides a wide range of residential plumbing solutions, including drain cleaning, piping and repiping, slab leak repair, water heater repair and replacement, sewer camera inspections, leak detection, bathroom plumbing and water line services. The company also handles hydro jetting, kitchen plumbing, fixture repairs, water filtration and other common residential plumbing needs.

The website also highlights JAG Plumbing Services? owner-led approach. The company is led by owner Joshua ?Josh? Gibb and focuses on quality workmanship, clear communication and practical solutions designed to address plumbing problems properly rather than relying on temporary fixes.

?Our new website gives homeowners an easier way to learn who we are, what we do and how we can help when they have a plumbing problem,? said Joshua Gibb, owner of JAG Plumbing Services, Inc. ?Our commitment has always been to provide excellent service, communicate clearly with our customers and do the job right. We?re extremely grateful for the trust and support that homeowners throughout Palm Beach County have shown me and our team over the years. That support means a great deal to us, and this new website is another way we can make it easier for both longtime and new customers to connect with JAG Plumbing and get the service they need.?

Based in Loxahatchee, JAG Plumbing Services serves homeowners across Palm Beach County, including Loxahatchee, The Acreage, North Palm Beach, Palm Beach Gardens, Jupiter, Jupiter Farms, Wellington, Palm Beach, Lantana and surrounding communities.

Visitors to the new website can also learn more about what customers can expect when working with JAG Plumbing Services. The company emphasizes straightforward communication and transparent pricing, with flat-rate pricing provided in writing before work begins. JAG Plumbing Services is a Florida State Certified Plumbing Contractor and is licensed and insured.

For homeowners dealing with an unexpected leak, clogged drain, water heater problem or other plumbing concern, the new website provides a streamlined way to request service and describe the issue. Customers planning larger projects can also research services such as repiping, water heater installation and plumbing work associated with home improvements.

The launch represents another step in JAG Plumbing Services? continued efforts to remain accessible and responsive to the homeowners it serves. By combining an improved digital experience with the personal, owner-led service on which the company has built its reputation, JAG Plumbing Services aims to make finding reliable residential plumbing assistance easier for homeowners throughout the area.
