

Dinardo Tree Care Expands Certified Arborist Tree Services Across Greater Dallas

October 16, 2026

Dallas, TX - October 16, 2026 -

Dinardo Tree Care has expanded its arborist and tree trimming services throughout the Greater Dallas area, extending professional tree maintenance to communities that include Dallas, Highland Park, Preston Hollow, Lake Highlands, Lakewood, Coppell, and Highland Village. The expansion responds to growing demand for professional tree care across North Texas, where trees face demanding seasonal and environmental conditions.

The expanded offering covers a full range of services, including tree trimming, selective pruning, deep root fertilization, air spading, tree healthcare and diagnosis, insect and disease control, water management, tree and stump removal, tree support systems, and storm damage recovery. Each service is developed around the condition of the individual property, with customized plans designed for both commercial and residential clients.

All work is led by an ISA Certified Arborist and adheres to the ANSI A300 Tree Care Standards. These standards, approved by the American National Standards Institute, serve as the recognized industry benchmark and are referenced within the United States civil court system. The company emphasizes all-natural tree care, organic treatments, proven techniques, and certified training across every service it provides.

Jared Dinardo of Dinardo Tree Care pointed to the difference between routine branch cutting and applying arboricultural science to a living organism. "Trees in North Texas endure heat, drought, storms, and compacted urban soil, and each of those pressures affects a tree differently," Dinardo said. "The work of a certified arborist in Highland Park and surrounding communities is to read those conditions and respond with care that supports long-term health, not just short-term appearance."

The expansion reflects a broader trend toward structured, science-based tree maintenance in residential and commercial settings. As a certified arborist service, the company applies diagnostic assessments before recommending treatment, evaluating structural integrity, signs of disease, soil conditions, and water needs. Techniques such as air spading are used to loosen compacted soil around roots, while deep root fertilization delivers nutrients directly to the root zone to support healthier growth.

Dinardo noted that the service area growth allows more property owners to access consistent, standards-based care. "Expanding across the Greater Dallas area means more homeowners and businesses can work with trained professionals rather than treating tree work as an afterthought," Dinardo said. "Whether the need is tree trimming, storm recovery, or ongoing healthcare, the approach stays grounded in certified methods and organic treatment."

The company's services distinguish between aesthetic maintenance and health-focused intervention. Selective pruning is used to remove dead or diseased limbs and encourage sound growth, while tree support systems such as braces and cables help stabilize large branches and aging specimens. Storm damage recovery addresses broken limbs and compromised trees following severe weather, a recurring concern throughout the region.

Dinardo Tree Care is a tree care company serving the Greater Dallas area. The company specializes in maintaining the overall health and wellness of trees through organic treatments, proven techniques, and certified training. Led by an ISA Certified Arborist and operating in accordance with the ANSI A300 Tree Care Standards, Dinardo Tree Care provides both commercial and residential tree care across Dallas, Highland Park, Preston Hollow, Lake Highlands, Lakewood, Coppell, and Highland Village.
