ProTributeBands.com Publishes Hiring Guidance for Presenters Booking Tribute Concerts

November 09, 2026

SAN RAMON, CA - November 09, 2026 -
ProTributeBands.com has published hiring guidance for venue presenters, drawing on the published performance calendar of the tribute acts it represents to show what distinguishes the organizations that book tribute concerts. ProTributeBands.com books national-act caliber tribute bands for performing arts centers, theaters, casinos, fairs and festivals across the United States, and the new guidance addresses how presenters match an act to a room, plan stage audio and meet standard contract requirements.

The guidance from ProTributeBands.com centers on matching the act to the room. Acoustic or stripped-down acts suit venues under 500 people, while full rock tribute bands suit larger outdoor venues. On stage audio, a typical five-piece tribute band needs at least 24 input channels, and bands with horns or backing vocals can need 32 or more. Most venues require the band to carry general liability coverage, typically 1 million dollars per occurrence, with a certificate naming the venue as additional insured. The guidance notes that summer festival season, May through September, is when demand peaks, so concert series planners book early, and that legitimate touring acts can be checked in Pollstar.

The published calendar of ProTributeBands tribute bands illustrates the range of settings these recommendations apply to. The 2026 and 2027 calendar lists performing arts centers and theaters including the Mansion Theatre for the Performing Arts in Branson, Missouri, the Tarkington Center for the Performing Arts in Carmel, Indiana, the Yucaipa Performing Arts Center in California, the Bloomington Center for the Performing Arts in Illinois, the McComb/Bruchs Performing Arts Center in Wautoma, Wisconsin, the Lancaster Performing Arts Center in California, the Broadway Theatre of Pitman in New Jersey, the La Mirada Theatre for the Performing Arts in California in March 2027, and the Lincoln Theatre in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Gaming venues and festivals appear as well. Bohemian Queen, a Queen tribute, played a three-night run at the South Point Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas in September 2026 and played the Suquamish Clearwater

Casino in Washington. E5C4P3, a Journey tribute, played the Mint Gaming Hall in Franklin, Kentucky. Fair and festival dates include the Fayette County Fair in Iowa, the Gouverneur and St. Lawrence County Fair, the Geauga County Fair, the Savin Rock Festival in Connecticut, Tribute Fest in New York, and Squatchfest in Pennsylvania in July 2027. Summer concert series on the calendar include the Nash Family Jackson Amphitheater Summer Concert Series and the Coshocton Summer Concert Series in Ohio, along with series in Norton, Ohio and Mount Pleasant, Pennsylvania. Bring Out Yer Dead, a Grateful Dead tribute, is also among the represented acts.

"The calendar shows who actually books tribute concerts, so the guidance follows the same logic," said David Victor, Founder of ProTributeBands.com and formerly of the multi-platinum band BOSTON. "Matching the act to the room, planning enough input channels and confirming liability coverage are the details that let a presenter say yes with confidence."

ProTributeBands.com and its website, www.protributebands.com, represent screened tribute bands for performing arts centers, theaters, casinos, fairs, festivals and summer concert series, screening each band so presenters do not have to. Its bands perform across the United States and abroad, with many performing together since 2006. David Victor is featured in The Hits of BOSTON, which has performed with Orchestra Kentucky.
