

The Tourigny Law Firm Expands Wrongful Death Legal Services

September 29, 2026

September 29, 2026 -

The Tourigny Law Firm LLC has announced an expanded focus on legal services involving wrongful death claims. Led by attorney Rebecca Tourigny, the firm is providing legal information and representation for families dealing with the loss of a loved one and seeking to understand their legal options following a fatal incident.

Wrongful death claims can involve legal questions surrounding liability, available damages, insurance coverage, and applicable filing requirements. The circumstances of each case can differ substantially depending on how the death occurred and which parties may have been involved. The Tourigny Law Firm LLC provides legal guidance to families evaluating these issues and considering whether a wrongful death claim may apply to their circumstances.

A wrongful death case may arise when a person's death is connected to the negligent, reckless, or otherwise legally actionable conduct of another party. Depending on the circumstances, potential cases can involve motor vehicle collisions, workplace incidents, medical negligence, defective products, or other situations in which another party may bear legal responsibility. Determining whether a claim exists requires an examination of the specific facts and applicable law.

As part of its expanded legal focus, The Tourigny Law Firm LLC is making information available for individuals researching their options following the death of a family member. Families considering whether to consult a wrongful death attorney in Kansas City may need to gather documents and information concerning the incident, medical treatment, financial losses, insurance coverage, and other relevant circumstances.

Wrongful death claims can also involve questions about who is legally permitted to bring a claim. Missouri law establishes requirements concerning wrongful death actions, including provisions addressing eligible parties and the damages that may be sought. Because these requirements can depend on the circumstances of the death and the relationship between the deceased person and surviving family members, legal review can be relevant when determining available options.

The legal process may also require gathering and reviewing evidence related to the incident. Depending on the circumstances, relevant materials can include accident reports, medical records, employment records, photographs, witness statements, financial documentation, insurance information, and other records. Reviewing these materials can help establish the factual circumstances surrounding a death and identify issues that may require further investigation.

The Tourigny Law Firm LLC has also expanded its website resources to provide information concerning wrongful death claims and related legal considerations. These resources are intended to help families better understand the general legal process and the types of questions that may arise when evaluating a potential claim.

Financial considerations can be an important component of wrongful death cases. Depending on the circumstances and applicable law, damages may address certain economic losses as well as other losses recognized under state law. The specific damages available vary from case to case, making an evaluation of the individual circumstances important.

Rebecca Tourigny and The Tourigny Law Firm LLC continue to provide consultations concerning wrongful death matters. Families seeking a wrongful death attorney in Kansas City can review the firm's available resources and contact the firm to discuss the circumstances surrounding a potential claim.

The firm's expanded focus reflects its work with individuals and families addressing the legal issues that can follow a fatal incident. Through legal consultations and educational resources, The Tourigny Law Firm LLC is providing information about wrongful death claims and the legal considerations that may arise during the process.

Families dealing with a death caused by the conduct of another party may face legal questions while also managing financial, administrative, and personal matters. The Tourigny Law Firm LLC's wrongful death services are intended to provide legal guidance concerning those questions and the procedures that may apply under Missouri law.
