Complete Comfort Expands Operations With New AC Repair Service Locations

October 08, 2026

GREENWOOD, IN - October 08, 2026 -
Complete Comfort Heating, A/C & Plumbing Repair has expanded its service footprint across Central Indiana, bringing its full range of heating, cooling, and plumbing services to communities beyond its original Greenwood base. The company, which has operated in the region since 2003, now maintains service locations reaching Fishers, Bloomington, Brownsburg, and New Castle, allowing it to respond to a growing number of residential and commercial customers throughout the area.

The expansion reflects rising demand for HVAC and plumbing support across the greater Central Indiana market. By establishing a presence in additional communities, the company reduces response times for customers requesting service and broadens access to its around-the-clock repair availability, which includes no after-hours fees. Customers in the newly served areas now have local access to the company's cooling services, including air conditioning repair fishers in, along with heating, plumbing, indoor air quality, and geothermal offerings.

"Expanding into these communities allows the company to serve more families and businesses close to where they live and work," said Ken Hale, a representative of Complete Comfort Heating, A/C & Plumbing Repair. "Reaching customers in Fishers, Bloomington, Brownsburg, and New Castle means technicians can arrive sooner when a cooling or plumbing system needs attention, and that matters most during the hottest and coldest stretches of the year."

The company's cooling division handles air conditioning installation, maintenance, and repair, along with ductless mini-split systems and emergency HVAC service. Its heating services cover furnaces, heat pumps, and boilers, while its plumbing division addresses drain cleaning, fixture installation and repair, gas lines, main water line work, and sewer services. The company also provides geothermal heating and cooling systems and a range of indoor air quality solutions, including air duct cleaning, air quality testing, dehumidifiers, and UV air purification.

Households in southern Indiana requesting air conditioning repair bloomington in can draw on the same team of technicians that supports the company's established markets. The move into additional areas comes as the company continues to grow its technical team to meet service demand across the region. Leadership has pointed to consistent year-round need for both routine maintenance and emergency repair as a factor behind the decision to broaden coverage.

Residents seeking air conditioning repair brownsburg in gain coverage from a company that structures its operations around treating customers as neighbors. Each service location is staffed to handle residential and commercial requests, and the company reports that expanding its geographic reach has shortened the time between a customer call and a technician arrival in several of the newer communities.

"The goal has always been dependable service delivered by people who understand the community," Hale said. "As the company has grown from a single market into several, that focus on reliability and treating customers fairly has stayed the same."

Complete Comfort Heating, A/C & Plumbing Repair is a full-service HVAC and plumbing company based in Greenwood, Indiana, serving the greater Central Indiana area since 2003. The company provides heating, cooling, plumbing, indoor air quality, and geothermal services to residential and commercial customers and is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with no after-hours fees.
