Consumers Comfort Inc., a business in Vaughan, ON, Canada, is highlighting the benefits of having a tankless water heater. They are also proud to announce that they now offer consumers rental options with no upfront cost and with free installation. Various packages exist and they are designed to be incredibly affordable.

Edgar Brown from Consumers Comfort Inc. says: "Gas water heaters are the most popular heaters in this area because they are so efficient. We carry a range of storage and tankless water heaters in our stock. We encourage everyone to contact us for a free, no-obligation consultation, in which our representative can identify the best system based on an individual's needs. We now offer a range of rental options, which are designed to be affordable for everybody. Installation is also completely free."

The company offers a number of different tankless water heaters. These include the Premium Condensing Tankless Gas Water Heater like Navien NPE-A, of which they have three different models. These heaters have a half inch gas pipe that can run up to 24 feet. They also use a field convertible gas system and have ultra condensing efficiency. This means that these heaters use much less energy, leading to a reduction in energy bills while at the same time protecting the planet.

"Our tankless water heaters come with dual stainless steel heat exchangers," adds Edgar Brown. "They also have very low NOx emissions and are cascading capable (two or more units combined). This means people will see a significant reduction on their energy bills - sometimes more than what they pay us in rent - while also helping to lower fossil fuel dependency and emissions."

Those who have used Consumers Comfort services have been very happy with the results. "I can't begin to say enough good things about your company," says Maxine D. on the company's website www.ConsumersComfort.com. "I had an emergency and you were there. The technician you sent to install my boiler was one of your best. Eric did a great job and was so polite and helpful. It is not often that you can find the service your company provided today. Many, many thanks to you from us."
