Albuquerque, NM - The company CKLBRANDS has launched their newest product online on the Amazon shopping marketplace. The product called Vitamin D3 Capsules are made with a high concentration of Vitamin D. The softgel capsules are manufactured to the highest standards in the USA.

The customer can purchase a purely vegan product. According to CKLBRANDS, "these capsules contain Soy Bean Oil which contains Omega 3 Fatty Acids, Vitamin E, and is an unsaturated healthy fat." The capsules also are non-GMO and contain no gluten.

A representative from CKLBRANDS commented, "Our new product Vitamin D3 Capsules are made with health conscious individuals in mind. Additionally it has been designed to the highest standards on the market since it possesses the strict GMP and NSF certifications. Therefore customers can swallow these with confidence knowing that they will never compromise their safety."

The GMP certification is labelled as Good Manufacturing Practice which is a system designed to ensure that products are consistently produced and controlled according to quality standards. This system minimizes the risks involved in any pharmaceutical production that cannot be eliminated through testing the final product.

NSF does extensive product testing and material analyses along with unannounced plant inspections. According to the NSF website, "every aspect of a product's development is thoroughly evaluated before it can earn our certification." In addition, after certification, regular re-testing of the products is done to ensure they meet similar high standards.

A customer on Amazon liked the Vitamin D3 capsules and left a helpful review. She commented, "This is a great product that definitely enhances the physical well-being of those that live an active lifestyle and want to maintain nice skin with the benefits of lower blood pressure when working out! I am liking the quality of this brand!"

The CKLBRANDS Vitamin D3 Capsules are made as dietary supplements that are available on the Amazon shopping marketplace. Each of the containers of the product comes with sixty softgels of Vitamin D3 Capsules.
