

Private Dentist Victoria Announces Expanded Patient Diary in October 2026 With New Appointments at McKennell Dental Practice

October 05, 2026

LONDON, UK - October 05, 2026 -

Starting from 1st October 2026, McKennell Dental Practice has announced an expanded patient diary with new appointment slots available for patients in Victoria and the surrounding area seeking private dental care. The expanded availability opens access to a range of general dental treatments for new and existing patients. For those who have been putting off dental care, the additional slots provide a more accessible route into regular private dental attendance.

Dr Mori Shahid, Principal Dentist at McKennell Dental Practice, said the diary expansion reflects the practice's commitment to ensuring more patients can access timely private dental care in the Victoria area. "A number of patients contact us looking for appointments and are unable to be seen as quickly as we would like," she noted. "The additional slots mean we can accommodate more people from October 2026, which matters particularly for those who have been managing dental concerns without getting them assessed."

Private dental consultations at McKennell Dental Practice begin with a thorough examination of the teeth, gums, and surrounding oral structures. The dentist reviews the patient's dental history, discusses any concerns, and outlines the most appropriate treatment pathway before any work begins. X-rays may be taken where clinically indicated, providing a more detailed picture of the teeth and underlying bone structure that a visual examination alone cannot reveal. Patients are encouraged to raise questions and take time to understand their options before committing to any treatment.

Dental anxiety is a recognised barrier to seeking care. The team at McKennell Dental Practice adapts the pace of appointments accordingly, giving anxious patients more time and space to feel at ease before any treatment begins. This is particularly relevant for patients who have avoided dental visits for extended periods, where the prospect of an unfamiliar environment can feel more daunting than the treatment itself.

A study published in the Journal of Public Health Dentistry, titled "Evidence of Effectiveness of Preventive Dental Care in Reducing Dental Treatment Use and Related Expenditures" (DOI: 10.1111/jphd.12262), by Nadereh Pourat, Moonkyung Kate Choi, and Xiao Chen, found that among Medicaid enrollees across the ten largest counties in California, regular preventive dental care was associated with lower use of restorative, prosthodontic, and periodontal treatments. The researchers concluded that routine preventive dental visits were associated with reduced need for more costly treatments within that study population. These findings are specific to the Medicaid population studied and should not be generalised as expected outcomes for all patients or dental settings.

McKennell Dental Practice is a private dental clinic located in Pimlico, close to Victoria, serving patients across Central London. The practice team works across general and cosmetic dental care, with patients attending for routine check-ups, fillings, extractions, hygiene appointments, and restorative treatments depending on their clinical needs. As a private practice, appointment length is guided by clinical need rather than fixed time allocations, which in practice means more complex presentations or patients with multiple concerns can be assessed more thoroughly within a single appointment rather than requiring repeated visits for the same issue. Patients are seen on an individual basis, with treatment pathways determined by clinical assessment.

The practice places emphasis on clear communication throughout every stage of treatment. Patients are given the opportunity to ask questions and discuss their options before any treatment proceeds, with the emphasis on informed decision-making rather than moving through procedures without discussion. The practice also accepts patients who are not registered elsewhere, including those who have not attended a dentist for some time and are looking to re-establish regular dental care.

General dentistry at McKennell Dental Practice covers the full range of treatments that address everyday oral health needs. Dental examinations assess the condition of teeth and gums, identifying issues such as decay, gum disease, and erosion before they progress to more complex presentations. Where issues are identified early, the clinical pathway may be simpler, though this depends on the specific presentation, the extent of any existing damage, and the patient's overall oral health at the time of examination rather than the timing of attendance alone. Fillings address cavities caused by decay, restoring tooth structure whilst preventing further deterioration. Hygiene appointments focus on the removal of plaque and tartar that brushing alone may not fully address. Extractions are carried out where a tooth cannot be saved through other means, with the dentist discussing replacement options where appropriate.

McKennell Dental Practice can be contacted directly to arrange a consultation or to ask questions ahead of an appointment. The practice welcomes patients from Victoria, Pimlico, and the wider Central London area. Those looking for a private dentist Victoria with availability for new patients can contact McKennell Dental Practice directly to arrange an initial consultation.
