

Argan Products International Expands Organic Argan Oil Bulk Supply for Growing Beauty Brands

October 06, 2026

Tangier, Morocco - October 06, 2026 -

Argan Products International has expanded its sourcing and distribution operations to meet rising demand from beauty brands seeking Moroccan argan oil at scale. The expansion connects emerging and established cosmetic manufacturers with certified supply sourced directly from cooperatives in Morocco, addressing a market shift toward traceable, ethically produced ingredients.

The company reports that interest in natural and plant-based cosmetic ingredients has prompted a growing number of brands to secure reliable upstream supply. In response, Argan Products International has structured its wholesale program around flexible volumes, batch traceability, and direct logistics from Morocco, reducing the layers of intermediaries that often complicate ingredient procurement.

Through ArganWholeSale.com organic argan oil bulk orders are supported with complete documentation, including certification and traceability records for each batch. The oil is produced using traditional cold-press methods, sourced without synthetic chemicals, and processed to maintain its natural profile. The company maintains oversight across harvesting, cold-pressing, and quality control to meet international standards.

"Beauty brands today want more than a finished ingredient. They want to know where it came from and how it was made," said Mo Boukadid, Director of Operations at Argan Products International. "The expansion of the supply program reflects that reality. Each shipment arrives with the documentation that brands and manufacturers need to verify authenticity and build trust with their own customers."

The company works with cooperatives in Morocco to uphold practices intended to protect purity and sustainability. By managing the supply chain directly, Argan Products International aims to provide consistent lead times and transparent sourcing for partners ranging from small independent labels to larger manufacturers and ingredient distributors.

Bulk supply is offered across a range of container formats suited to different production needs, including gallon containers, 35-pound containers, drums, and totes. This range is designed to serve manufacturers scaling production as well as brands moving from early formulation into larger runs.

"Many brands reach a point where small-quantity purchasing no longer supports their growth," Boukadid said. "Providing a certified organic argan oil in volume, with reliable procurement and clear documentation, allows those brands to focus on formulation and distribution rather than on securing their raw material."

Beyond bulk supply, Argan Products International offers private label and contract bottling services for businesses seeking to launch or extend their own product lines. These services allow partners to bring market-ready argan oil products to retailers, spas, salons, and e-commerce channels while the company manages product integrity and bottling.

The company sources argan oil that reflects the richness and tradition of Moroccan craftsmanship, working with businesses of all sizes to match supply to their requirements. Its organic argan oil wholesale programs are built for brands and manufacturers seeking certified, ethically sourced ingredients at scale.

Argan Products International specializes in supplying premium argan oil sourced directly from Morocco. The company partners with trusted cooperatives and maintains oversight of harvesting, cold-pressing, and quality control to deliver certified, traceable oil. Its offerings include bulk supply, private labeling, contract bottling, and shelf-ready products for brands, manufacturers, and distributors.

###

For more information about Argan Products International, contact the company here: Argan Products International Mo Boukadid 00 212 648-806674 m.boukadid@gmail.com Rue 11 N°59 ? Lot N°594 Tangier ?

Argan Products International

Argan Products International is an argan oil wholesaler for the most premium quality bulk argan oil worldwide. We are shipping wholesale argan oil worldwide in different packages from jars, bottles, gallons to containers.

Website: <https://arganwholesale.com/>

Email: m.boukadid@gmail.com

Phone: 00 212 648-806674

