June 20, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Thomas A. Narsete, MD, a plastic surgeon in Denver, Co, has announced that he now offers free, no obligation consultations for all of his surgical services. These include the Brazilian butt lift, the mommy makeover, the breast augmentation, and the breast lift, as well as a variety of other procedures. Dr. Narsete aims to use this opportunity to empower and inform patients, while also demonstrating why he is known to deliver some of the best plastic surgery Denver residents can depend on.

Dr. Thomas Narsete himself says: "The average woman looks in the mirror at least 16 times a day. Most of us look into the mirror to get a sense of reassurance - an assurance that reality complements the internal image of ourselves. However, the natural phenomenon of aging can widen the gap between desire and reality, making us look for ways to fill the gap and look the way we really want to look. Luckily, this can be achieved. All it takes is the right surgical procedure and the right practitioner."

The Denver plastic surgeon is dedicated to providing women and men alike with the best possible procedures to meet their needs. As a Board Certified plastic and cosmetic surgeon, Dr. Narsete is highly qualified and fully capable of transforming his patients' bodies. He operates along a clear philosophy, which is that surgical procedures can only be truly successful if the needs of the patients are fully understood.

Those who have used the services of Dr. Narsete have been very pleased with the results. "The surgery you did a year ago tomorrow was outstanding and I couldn't be happier," says Carol B. on the surgeon's Google+ site. "The decision to fly to your office from Florida was well worth it, and I wish I had decided to do this sooner. As of my one year anniversary of surgery I can truly say your surgery (ie. a wonderful tummy tuck) on me along with the excellent care your staff gave me, has made me one very happy lady."

Those interested in Brazilian butt lift Denver procedures, or any other cosmetic procedure, are encouraged to book in for a free consultation.
