June 20, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Knives Ship Free, a business based in Escanaba, MI, has announced the launch of their new line of Todd Begg knives. The new line now currently holds the Steelcraft models but the company also aims to add a custom category in the very near future. People are encouraged to view new product line on the company's website and/or visit their showroom.

Derrick Bohn from Knives Ship Free says: "We're so excited to have launched this new line of Todd Begg knives. Such knives are known to be of the highest possible quality and durability. Our staff members were blown away by the quality of Begg's production knives, and we simply had to have them."

At present, the company carries eight different Steelcraft knives in the Todd Begg line. Each of these are created using top shelf materials. They are created using state of the art, precision production methods. This guarantees the quality of the knives. People are encouraged to visit the Knives Ship Free website for more information on these knives, how they are produced, and what they are for.

The company will soon launch their custom Todd Begg line as well. Begg is one of the most in demand manufacturers of custom knives, which is also seen in the prices of his custom designs. He has put together a shop staffed with handpicked craftsmen, each of whom are trusted to help him create his designs. Each piece is made with pride and love. The company is only able to make around 50 knives per month, as they focus on the overall quality of the knives. Being able to carry a few of those 50 each month has filled Knives Ship Free with pride.

People are also encouraged to like the Knives Ship Free Facebook page for daily information. News will be listed there about which custom knives have been received and how many of them are available. The Facebook page is also an opportunity for people to leave reviews about their experiences and the products, as well as discuss other things relevant to knives and their usage.
