

Miller Tree Service Expands Storm Damage Readiness and Tree Service Offerings Across Northwest Louisiana

November 04, 2026

Shreveport, Louisiana - November 04, 2026 -
Miller Tree Service, Inc. has strengthened its emergency storm-damage cleanup capabilities and full slate of tree care offerings for homeowners and property managers throughout Shreveport, Bossier City, Benton, Haughton, and Stonewall as the region enters a period of increasingly unpredictable weather. The family-owned company, which has served Northwest Louisiana for more than 40 years, is directing attention to the role that proactive tree maintenance and rapid storm response play in protecting residential and commercial properties.

Severe storms common to the Gulf South region can topple limbs and uproot mature trees, creating hazards that threaten homes, vehicles, and power lines. Miller Tree Service maintains trained crews and specialized equipment to respond to these situations, offering emergency tree removal and debris cleanup around the clock. The company reports that routine pruning and arborist evaluations completed before storm season can reduce the likelihood of damage once high winds arrive.

The company offers a comprehensive range of services, including tree removal, stump removal, tree pruning, storm damage cleanup, and arborist consulting. Four arborists on staff advise clients on tree health, treatment options, future plantings, and species identification. As a local tree service rooted in the communities it serves, Miller Tree Service covers Benton, Bossier City, Haughton, Minden, Mansfield, Stonewall, Shreveport, and surrounding areas.

"Many property owners wait until a storm has already caused damage before thinking about the trees on their land," said Matt Miller, President of Miller Tree Service, Inc. "Addressing weak limbs, dead wood, and structural issues ahead of time makes a meaningful difference in how well a property holds up during severe weather."

The company emphasizes safety and thorough cleanup as central to its work. After tree removal, crews remove stumps and clear debris, leaving landscapes clean and usable. Arborist consulting rounds out the company's offerings, giving clients access to guidance on long-term tree care rather than only reactive services.

"Our arborists look at the whole picture, from the health of a single specimen tree to the overall condition of a wooded property," Miller said. "That expertise is something we have built over decades of working in Northwest Louisiana, and it shapes every recommendation we make."

Miller Tree Service holds an A+ rating with the Better Business Bureau and brings more than 100 years of combined experience to the tree care industry. The company is fully licensed and insured and offers online payment options for added convenience.
