

Sunstar Construction & Remodeling Expands Focus on Residential Kitchen Renovations for St. George Homeowners

October 21, 2026

ST. GEORGE, UT - October 21, 2026 -
Sunstar Construction & Remodeling has placed renewed emphasis on residential kitchen renovation work, offering St. George homeowners a structured approach to planning, layout, and functionality when updating an existing kitchen. The company reports growing interest from area residents seeking to modernize older kitchens while addressing the practical demands of daily cooking and family gatherings.

The effort centers on helping homeowners think through the stages of a renovation before construction begins. According to the company, the most successful projects start with careful planning around how a household actually uses the space, including traffic flow, storage needs, and the placement of appliances and work zones. Sunstar Construction & Remodeling kitchen remodels cover full layout overhauls, custom cabinetry, stone countertop upgrades, tile backsplashes, center islands, and energy-efficient lighting.

For many St. George households, updating an existing kitchen involves balancing aesthetic preferences with the realities of local building codes and the region's climate. The company draws on its knowledge of Southern Utah conditions to guide material selection and design choices that are intended to hold up over time.

The company offers residential kitchen work as part of a broader range of services that includes bathroom remodels, building additions, flooring installation, design and build services, and new construction. Sunstar Construction & Remodeling in St. George also handles commercial construction, tenant improvements, and office renovations for clients across Southern Utah, Southern Nevada, and Northern Arizona.

"A kitchen renovation works best when the layout matches the way a family lives, not just how the space looks in a photo," said Kevin Tatom, project director at Sunstar Construction & Remodeling. "Much of the early conversation with homeowners is about function. Where does traffic move, how is counter space used during meal preparation, and what storage is missing in the current layout. Getting those answers first leads to a result people are comfortable with for years."

Tatom noted that homeowners weighing a kitchen project often underestimate the value of sequencing. "Permitting, cabinetry lead times, and countertop fabrication all affect the schedule," he said. "Mapping those steps in advance keeps a project moving and reduces the disruption to a household during construction."

Beyond remodeling, the company performs restoration work for properties affected by damage or age. Sunstar Construction & Remodeling restoration and rebuilding services address structural repairs and the reconstruction of spaces that require more than cosmetic updates, allowing homeowners to combine repair work with planned improvements when appropriate.

The company serves St. George along with the neighboring communities of Washington, Santa Clara, and Ivins. Its process moves from initial planning and permitting through final inspection, with an emphasis on clear communication and defined timelines at each stage.
