

Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air Expands Home-Comfort Services for Duncan Homeowners

October 23, 2026

DUNCAN, SC - October 23, 2026 -

Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air continues to strengthen its role as a provider of heating, cooling, and plumbing services for homeowners throughout Duncan, South Carolina, and the surrounding Spartanburg County communities. The family-owned company, which has served the Upstate region since 1969, offers a broad range of home-comfort solutions designed to keep residential systems running efficiently throughout every season.

Tuck & Howell Plumbing provides air conditioning repair and replacement, furnace service, heat pump installation, and geothermal HVAC options for area residents. On the plumbing side, the company responds to leaking pipes, clogged drains, water heater failures, and slab leaks, while also handling planned work such as fixture installation, repiping, and water line replacement. Additional offerings include backflow service, water treatment, sewer line repair, drain cleaning, crawl space encapsulation, ductwork, duct-free systems, indoor air quality improvements, attic insulation, electrical work, and whole-house generator installation.

The company emphasizes both rapid-response repairs and preventive maintenance, an approach intended to address small issues before they develop into costly emergencies. Technicians handle concerns ranging from refrigerant leaks and failing capacitors to clogged condensate lines and worn compressors. Seasonal tune-ups are offered ahead of peak heating and cooling months to help systems operate at proper efficiency.

Heating & Air services from the company also include guidance for homeowners weighing whether to repair or replace aging equipment. That guidance is based on factors such as system age, efficiency ratings, and repair history, allowing residents to make informed decisions about their heating and cooling investments.

"Serving Duncan homeowners for more than five decades has given the team a deep understanding of the systems and conditions common to homes across the region," said Jay Mahaffey, owner of Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air. "The goal is to explain findings in plain language so that families understand exactly what their systems need before any work begins."

Tuck & Howell Plumbing, Heating & Air in Duncan maintains a focus on clear communication and local familiarity, which the company credits for its ability to diagnose issues and begin work efficiently. Local knowledge of the area and its housing stock supports faster assessments and service tailored to the needs of Upstate residents.

"Reliable heating, cooling, and plumbing are essential to everyday life in Spartanburg County," Mahaffey added. "The team remains committed to responsive service and dependable maintenance that help local households avoid unexpected disruptions."

In addition to serving Duncan, the company provides HVAC and plumbing services to nearby communities including Greer, Lyman, Reidville, Startex, and Wellford, as well as broader portions of Upstate South Carolina and Western North Carolina.
