

White Oak Landscape Builds on Nearly 50 Years of Experience with Expanded Focus on Luxury Residential and Estate Landscaping

November 13, 2026

MARIETTA, GA - November 13, 2026 -
White Oak Landscape, a family-owned landscaping company serving metro Atlanta since 1977, is expanding its emphasis on high-end residential and estate landscaping services throughout metro Atlanta and North Georgia. With nearly five decades of experience in the landscape industry, the company continues to build on its reputation for quality workmanship, comprehensive landscape solutions, and long-standing client relationships.

The expanded focus reflects the increasing complexity of residential landscape projects, particularly among estate and luxury homeowners seeking cohesive outdoor environments. Rather than approaching landscaping, irrigation, drainage, lighting, and hardscapes as separate improvements, White Oak Landscape emphasizes comprehensive planning and coordinated installation to deliver functional, attractive, and lasting results.

"Over the years, we've seen residential landscaping evolve well beyond traditional planting and lawn installation," said Rocky DeVotie, President of White Oak Landscape. "Today's larger residential projects often involve extensive grading, drainage, irrigation, lighting, hardscapes, and detailed landscape installations. Our experience allows us to bring those components together while maintaining the quality and attention to detail our clients expect."

White Oak Landscape provides a broad range of residential landscaping services, including complete landscape installations, outdoor living spaces, patios, retaining walls, irrigation systems, landscape lighting, drainage solutions, water features, and ongoing landscape maintenance.

The company's approach emphasizes understanding each property's unique characteristics, the homeowner's vision, and the long-term functionality of the landscape. From initial planning and project coordination through installation and continued maintenance, White Oak Landscape works to ensure each component complements the overall property.

"One of the biggest challenges with large estate projects is coordinating all the different elements involved," DeVotie added. "Drainage, irrigation, grading, lighting, hardscapes, and landscaping all affect one another. When those elements are properly planned and coordinated from the beginning, it creates a better finished product and helps prevent problems down the road."

While expanding its emphasis on luxury residential and estate properties, White Oak Landscape continues to provide commercial landscape installation, maintenance, irrigation, and related services throughout the Atlanta market. The company's experience across both residential and commercial projects provides a foundation for managing complex scopes of work, coordinating multiple trades, and delivering projects of varying sizes.

As White Oak Landscape approaches its 50th anniversary in 2027, the company remains committed to the principles that have supported its growth since 1977: quality workmanship, dependable service, strong relationships, and a long-term commitment to the properties and clients it serves.
