

Box Tree Care Expands Leander Tree Maintenance Offerings for Property Owners

October 23, 2026

LEANDER, TX - October 23, 2026 -

Box Tree Care, a local arborist company owned and operated by Joshua Box, has expanded its range of professional tree care offerings to meet growing demand for Leander tree maintenance among residential and commercial property owners. The company now provides a comprehensive selection of services designed to address both routine care and emergency situations across the area.

The expanded offerings include tree trimming, tree removal, stump grinding, lot clearing, and oak wilt treatment. Each service is performed by trained professionals who understand the growth patterns of different tree species and the regional conditions that affect tree health in central Texas.

Box Tree Care tree maintenance plans focus on reducing the risk of falling branches, which can pose hazards to people, property, and surrounding structures during storms or adverse weather. Skilled arborists trim trees in a manner intended to promote healthy growth while minimizing potential dangers during seasonal weather events.

For trees that pose a significant risk due to disease, unstable growth patterns, or other factors, Box Tree Care offers a tree removal service that uses safe and efficient methods to remove hazardous trees while limiting damage to the surrounding landscape. Following removal, the company's stump grinding service addresses remaining stumps through a method considered less disruptive than traditional excavation.

Box Tree Care has earned a consistent record of five-star reviews from clients across the region, reflecting the company's attention to safety, workmanship, and customer communication. One such review can be found among the company's listed references online.

"Trees are a long-term investment in any property, and caring for them properly requires an understanding of each species and the local environment," said Joshua Box, owner of Box Tree Care. "The decision to broaden the range of services came from listening to what property owners in the area actually need throughout the year, from routine maintenance to storm preparation."

The company also provides lot clearing for residential and commercial development projects, removing trees, shrubs, and other obstacles to prepare land for construction or landscaping. In addition, Box Tree Care offers oak wilt treatment, addressing a fungal disease that causes rapid wilting and death of oak leaves through methods that include fungal injections and the pruning of infected branches.

"Early detection and timely care make a meaningful difference, particularly with conditions such as oak wilt that can spread quickly," Box added. "A free consultation and assessment from an experienced arborist helps property owners understand the condition of their trees before small issues become larger problems."

Box Tree Care provides each client with a complimentary consultation, offering expert assessments from experienced arborists before any work begins.

Box Tree Care is a tree care company owned and operated by Joshua Box, serving residential and commercial property owners with a focus on nurturing and maintaining trees. The company specializes in tree trimming, tree removal, stump grinding, lot clearing, and oak wilt treatment, combining professional expertise with an emphasis on safety and the long-term health of each property's landscape.
