

NextDAY Cabinets Expands Local Alexandria Kitchen Cabinets Sourcing for Northern Virginia Contractors

October 29, 2026

CHANTILLY, VA - October 29, 2026 -
NextDAY Cabinets is strengthening local cabinet access for trade professionals in the Alexandria and Northern Virginia market, where tight project timelines and high renovation volume make dependable sourcing a priority for contractors, builders, remodelers, cabinet dealers, and designers. The company's Alexandria showroom functions as a trade-focused hub, giving construction professionals a nearby location to review products, coordinate orders, and keep active jobs moving on schedule.

Local sourcing has become increasingly important for trade professionals managing multiple projects across the region. When cabinets are available close to the job site, contractors can reduce the lead-time uncertainty that often affects retail orders and better align deliveries with construction phases. NextDAY Cabinets Alexandria is positioned to support that workflow, offering trade accounts, volume purchasing options, and coordination tailored to professional schedules.

The Alexandria showroom provides access to multiple cabinet brands, including Kith Kitchens, Forevermark

Cabinets, Shiloh Cabinetry, Waypoint Cabinets, Marsh Furniture, Wolf Home Products, Mantra Cabinets, and Lineadecor. This range gives professionals tiered product choices suited to budget-conscious builds as well as high-end custom renovations, an advantage in a design-conscious market that spans historic restorations and new construction.

Alexandria cabinet sourcing through the showroom also includes professional design support. Trade clients can use 3D kitchen design rendering, material samples, and elevation drawings to plan layouts and present finished concepts to their own customers. These tools help contractors move projects from specification to installation with fewer delays.

"Contractors are judged on how well they hit deadlines, and cabinets are often the piece that holds up a kitchen," said a spokesperson for the Addrify BrandWorks PR Team, representing NextDAY Cabinets. "Having kitchen cabinet options for Alexandria contractors available locally means a builder can walk a showroom, confirm a selection, and coordinate delivery that lines up with the actual construction schedule instead of waiting on an extended retail lead time."

Fulfillment flexibility is central to the showroom's role. In-stock cabinets are available for warehouse pickup or job-site delivery, allowing professionals to choose the option that fits each project. All cabinet lines carry KCMA certification and meet CARB Phase 2 formaldehyde emission standards, giving contractors consistent quality assurance across price tiers.

The Alexandria location is part of a broader network of NextDAY Cabinets showrooms across Virginia, Maryland, and the greater Chicago market, including Chantilly, Woodbridge, Richmond, Beltsville, and the Chicago area. That multi-location footprint supports trade professionals working across the DC metro region and beyond.

The Alexandria showroom serves trade professionals rather than retail walk-in customers, reflecting the company's focus on contractors, builders, and dealers who require wholesale structures, trade accounts, and project coordination.

NextDAY Cabinets is a trade-focused distributor of all-wood kitchen cabinets, vanities, and related products, serving contractors, builders, remodelers, cabinet dealers, and designers. The company offers multiple cabinet brands, a custom paint program, closets, bathroom products, flooring, and accessories, along with professional design services and pickup or delivery options. With showrooms across Virginia, Maryland, and the greater Chicago area, NextDAY Cabinets supports construction professionals with product selection, trade pricing, and project fulfillment.
