

Main Graphics Offers Apparel and Screen Printing With Print Orders

November 05, 2026

IRVINE, CA - November 05, 2026 -
Main Graphics is producing custom apparel and screen-printed shirts for businesses, schools and teams from its print shop on Barranca Parkway in Irvine, California. The service allows customers to order branded apparel alongside business cards, brochures, banners and other printed materials from one shop.

Companies and organizations often buy apparel and printed marketing materials from separate vendors, which can lead to logos and colors that do not quite match. Ordering both from one shop keeps artwork consistent and simplifies scheduling for events, product launches and new hires.

"Clients come in for brochures and banners for a trade show and then ask about matching shirts," said George, owner of Main Graphics. "We can do the shirts, the booth and the handouts from the same artwork."

The shop's apparel printing covers T-shirts, polos, hoodies and other garments for staff uniforms, events, fundraisers and team wear. Customers can supply their own artwork or work with the company's designers.

Larger runs are produced through screen printing, which suits orders with a set number of colors and works well for school spirit wear, company outings and charity events where many identical shirts are needed.

For promotions and giveaways, Main Graphics also handles promotional items printing such as tote bags, drinkware and other branded products that can be ordered with apparel for events and conferences.

"A lot of our customers are planning the whole event at once," George said. "If the shirts, signs and handouts come from one place, there is one proof to approve and one delivery to track."

The company recommends ordering apparel several weeks before an event to allow time for proofs, size counts and production, particularly during busy spring and fall event seasons.

Size breakdowns, ink colors and print locations are confirmed on a proof before production so customers can review placement on the front, back or sleeves.

Reorders are simplified because artwork and specifications are kept on file, which helps teams and businesses order new sizes or additional shirts later in the year.

Businesses, schools and organizations in Irvine and throughout Orange County can request apparel quotes through the Main Graphics website or by phone.
