Oasis Center Highlights Sustained Five-Star Reputation for Outpatient Rehab Services in NYC

November 02, 2026

NEW YORK, NY - November 02, 2026 -
Oasis Center, a private addiction treatment facility based in Manhattan, has reported a continued five-star reputation across patient reviews for its full continuum of care, including its outpatient rehab programs serving individuals throughout New York City. The recognition reflects feedback from patients and families who have accessed the center's confidential, round-the-clock services for drug and alcohol addiction.

The positive reviews span the range of programs offered by the facility, from medically supervised detox through flexible outpatient treatment. One such five-star review can be found among the center's public listings, where patients have described their experiences with the clinical team and recovery programs.

Oasis Addiction Center outpatient rehab in New York residents can access at any hour, the facility operates a 24/7 confidential helpline and clinical team. Services include medical detox for alcohol, opioids, benzodiazepines, and stimulants, as well as residential inpatient rehab, partial hospitalization, intensive outpatient programming, standard outpatient care, medication-assisted treatment, and dual diagnosis support for co-occurring mental health conditions.

The center's Intensive Outpatient Program provides more than nine hours of therapy per week with evening scheduling options, allowing patients to continue working or caring for their families while receiving structured treatment. Standard outpatient programs are designed for individuals with a strong support system at home who are able to manage recovery with less intensive clinical oversight.

"The feedback reflected in these reviews speaks to the dedication of the clinical team and the strength of the recovery community," said a spokesperson for Oasis Center. "Every person who walks through the door is treated with respect and dignity, and the sustained five-star reputation is a direct result of that commitment to compassionate, evidence-based care."

The facility's Medication-Assisted Treatment program combines FDA-approved medications, including Suboxone, Vivitrol, and methadone, with ongoing counseling to help patients manage cravings and reduce the risk of relapse. The dual diagnosis program provides integrated treatment that addresses both substance use disorders and any underlying mental health conditions in a single plan of care.

"Recovery is not a single event but a continuum, and the programs are structured to meet people wherever they are in that process," the spokesperson added. "Offering same-day and free confidential assessments removes a common barrier for those ready to seek help."

The center accepts most major commercial insurance plans and provides free confidential assessments, including same-day options for individuals seeking immediate support. Its clinical team remains available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Oasis Center in New York provides a full continuum of addiction care, including medical detox, residential inpatient rehab, partial hospitalization, intensive outpatient and standard outpatient programs, medication-assisted treatment, and dual diagnosis care for co-occurring mental health conditions. The facility is committed to delivering compassionate, evidence-based treatment, with a clinical team available at all hours and a focus on treating every individual with respect and dignity.
