Front Yard Originals Features Life-Size Animal Yard Displays with German Shepherd and Raptor Silhouettes

October 29, 2026

LINDEN, MI - October 29, 2026 -
Front Yard Originals is featuring life-size animal silhouettes among its outdoor yard-art collection, with the German Shepherd and Raptor designs available as precision-manufactured displays for residential outdoor placement. The Linden, Michigan manufacturer produces these figures from waterproof PVC material as part of its wildlife and animal offerings, placing them alongside other seasonal and year-round silhouettes rather than limiting them to a single holiday category.

The German Shepherd display consists of two silhouette figures. Company product information identifies a sitting German Shepherd measuring 29 inches wide by 41 inches tall and a standing German Shepherd measuring 48 inches wide by 33 inches tall. Both are cut from all-weather PVC plastic that is waterproof, resists mold and mildew, and will not rot or delaminate. The set includes all stakes and hardware needed for yard display and is precision manufactured in the United States. Product descriptions note that the silhouettes are designed to look realistic when placed in a backyard.

The Yard Raptor measures 76 inches wide by 38 inches tall. It is likewise precision manufactured in the United States from waterproof PVC material intended to last for years outdoors. The figure includes all stakes and hardware for yard installation. Product information presents it as a silhouette-style display suited to daytime or nighttime viewing. Both the German Shepherd and Raptor appear in the company?s wildlife listings, and the German Shepherd is also shown in the New Products collection.

Life-size animal silhouettes occupy a distinct place in the Front Yard Originals catalog. The company organizes outdoor nativity displays, Christmas yard decorations, reindeer and sleighs, Bigfoot figures, yard silhouettes, Halloween displays, animals, Easter displays, and winter displays as separate lines. Animal and wildlife pieces sit within that structure as subjects that can be used year-round or combined with seasonal arrangements. A German Shepherd or Raptor silhouette is read primarily through its outline and scale rather than through color or fine surface detail. When staked in an open lawn, along a fence line, or near a walkway, the profile supplies the subject against whatever background the yard provides.

Material and construction details support outdoor placement. Front Yard Originals manufactures its displays in the United States from thick, all-weather PVC board described as waterproof and suited to rain, snow, wind, and sun. Related product information for the animal silhouettes refers to the same waterproof PVC that resists mold, mildew, and delamination. The German Shepherd and Raptor sets ship with stakes and hardware. Assembly for many of the company?s silhouettes uses a straightforward approach that allows the pieces to be positioned and secured without specialized tools. Lighting remains the property owner?s choice. Exact mounting varies by model, with some figures staked directly in the yard.

The presence of these animal figures in current product listings expands the range of outdoor silhouette subjects available from the company. Smaller wildlife pieces such as mother-and-cub groups or individual animal profiles already exist in the catalog. The German Shepherd and Raptor add larger, single-subject or paired profiles that occupy more visual space in a residential setting. A 76-inch-wide Raptor or a pair of German Shepherd silhouettes can be recognized from a greater distance than a compact ground-level accent. Company descriptions frame the animal displays as realistic outdoor silhouettes rather than as limited-season props.

Front Yard Originals? New Arrivals section also includes life-size nativity pieces, larger Bigfoot figures, and a wall-mounted patriotic eagle silhouette. The animal designs remain the subject of this release because their specific outlines and dimensions are the development now visible in the official product listings.

?Animal silhouettes work through outline and placement,? said Shane Easler, Partner at Front Yard Originals. ?A life-size German Shepherd or Raptor is recognized by its shape against the yard. The profile carries the subject without needing additional detail.?

Easler noted that the figures follow the manufacturing approach used for other outdoor pieces. ?These displays are made in the United States from thick all-weather PVC board, the same material used across the outdoor line. The German Shepherd and Raptor are part of the animal and wildlife offerings and are currently listed for outdoor use.?
