Hoff The Roof Contractor Relocates Service Office

November 04, 2026

WEST CHESTER, PA - November 04, 2026 -
Hoff The Roof Contractor has relocated its local service office to 720 East Market St Ste 104, West Chester, PA 19382. The company said phone service continues at (484) 537-8129, with phones answered around the clock, and that residential and commercial roofing work from the office continues without interruption.

The office supports roof replacement, roof repair, roof inspection, roof leak detection, storm damage repair, emergency roof tarping, asphalt shingle roofing, flat roofing, and commercial roofing. Flat roofing work covers EPDM, TPO, and modified bitumen systems used on low-slope and commercial roofs in the region.

"Having the crew based at Market Street keeps inspections, estimates, and job staging in one place," said Jim Hoff. "Customers keep the same phone number, and every written estimate still starts with an on-site look at the roof before any work is priced."

The company is family-owned and operated. It also maintains offices in Chester and in Newtown Square. From this office it serves nearby communities including Westtown, West Goshen, East Goshen, and Glen Mills, along with other towns listed on the location page.

Property owners who need an inspection, a leak evaluation, or emergency tarping can call at any hour. The company advises photographing visible damage from the ground when it is safe and avoiding climbing onto a damaged roof. Each project begins with an on-site assessment before a recommendation or priced proposal is issued.

After temporary protection is in place, crews decide whether a targeted repair or a full replacement is the right next step. Flat and low-slope sections are checked for ponding, blocked drains, and seam or flashing failures that can let water into the building after heavy rain. A priced proposal is provided in writing before paid work begins.

Asphalt shingle work is described as a full system approach that includes the deck, underlayment, flashing, and shingles rather than a surface-only patch when a replacement is needed. Commercial and multifamily roofs are inspected for membrane condition, drainage, and related exterior details so the scope is clear before authorization. Phone coverage and the same service list remain in place for callers who reach this office line first.

Ice dams, wind-lifted shingles, and valley leaks are among the conditions crews document with photographs during an inspection. Homeowners receive a written record they can keep or share with an insurer when a claim is being considered. Permanent repairs are scheduled after the temporary weather protection is secure and the scope of remaining work is clear.
