

Local Click Advanced Development Solutions Offers Free Reputation Report

June 23, 2016

June 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Local Click Advanced Development Solutions, based in Cambridge, NY, has launched a new Local Business Analyzer, which helps businesses identify what their current reputation is. The company has decided to offer this reputation report for free because having an excellent online reputation is one of the most important things for the online success of a business. Achieving, and then maintaining, this positive reputation, however, requires a significant investment of time and effort. The report, which is valued at $197, is currently available through <http://famousreputation.com>, with no credit information required.

James W. Sweeney, CEO of Local Click Advanced Development Solutions says: "87% of consumers referred to a business or practice, go online to find more information. So, your business or practice must be listed properly online."

Building an excellent online reputation is hard work and it is also hard to find out whether such efforts are having an effect. This is why Local Click is now offering the reputation report to all interested parties. This report will show them the latest trends on what customers are saying about them, any negative reviews that have been posted, and business strategies that they can implement in order to get more customers.

Once businesses have entered their company information, the proprietary software will get to work on creating a comprehensive report. This report will show the business what their current issues are, as well as how they can fix and correct them. Local Click Advanced Development Solutions also includes a self guided tour to the report, which explains exactly what business needed to do in order to correct any problems that they come across.

It should be noted that the report does more than just show businesses what consumers are saying about them online. It also enables them to search all the top business directories, so that they can check whether the information listed about them is correct or not. Lastly, it enables them to see just how visible their business is to potential customers.

James Sweeney has also asked people to connect with him on Twitter through <https://twitter.com/sweeneyjames>. Here, he regularly shares information on reputation management strategies that businesses can implement.

###

For more information about Local Click Advanced Development Solutions contact the company here: Local Click Advanced Development Solutions James W Sweeney 518-595-3098 james@locallytargetedmarketing.com 6 Myrtle Ave Cambridge, NY 12816

Local Click Advanced Development Solutions

Local Click Advanced Development Solutions is an international research and marketing firm that focuses on local business growth. More leads, more customers, more money.

Website: <http://locallytargetedmarketing.com>

Email: james@locallytargetedmarketing.com

Phone: 518-595-3098

Powered by PressAdvantage.com