Laserpraxis Mühlebach Highlights Laser Hair Removal Among Expanded Aesthetic Services in the Lucerne Region

November 16, 2026

November 16, 2026 -
Laserpraxis Mühlebach, a medical practice located at Eichhofstrasse 1 in Eich, Canton of Lucerne, is drawing attention to its range of medical and aesthetic laser treatments available to people across the region. Led by Dr. med. Sandra Mühlebach-Knopf, the practice combines qualifications in general internal medicine with specialized training in laser treatments of the skin and mucous membranes.

Among the aesthetic options offered by the practice, laser hair removal addresses unwanted hair through laser technology. The treatment sits alongside a broader selection of aesthetic services, including treatment of pigment spots, reduction of small facial veins, skin rejuvenation and scar treatment with laser. Each service is carried out under the direction of a physician with formal certification in dermatological laser applications.

Dr. Mühlebach-Knopf holds the FMH designation as a specialist in general internal medicine, along with additional certificates in sports medicine and in laser treatments of the skin through the FMCH. This combination of medical and aesthetic expertise allows the practice to serve clients seeking either therapeutic or cosmetic laser applications within a single setting.

On the medical side, Laserpraxis Mühlebach provides laser acupuncture, a non-invasive approach that uses laser technology to stimulate acupuncture points, and low level laser therapy, which applies low-level lasers in the context of pain and inflammation management. These medical offerings complement the aesthetic treatments and reflect the practice's focus on applying laser technology across a range of clinical needs.

The practice has placed emphasis on making information about individual treatments accessible to residents of Eich and the wider Lucerne area. Details for each service are available through the practice's own channels, and prospective clients can locate current information about the practice through the Laserpraxis

Mühlebach Google Business Profile, which lists location and operating details alongside recent updates shared by the practice.

Appointments can be arranged by telephone, and online booking is available for selected treatments through the practice's booking tool. By offering both methods, Laserpraxis Mühlebach aims to accommodate the scheduling preferences of individuals in the region who are considering medical or aesthetic laser treatments.

Those searching for the practice can find Laserpraxis Mühlebach on Google, where the listing provides location information and additional context about the services offered in Eich. The practice maintains a presence on social media platforms as well, extending the avenues through which the community can learn about available treatments.

Laserpraxis Mühlebach is a medical practice in Eich, Canton of Lucerne, specializing in medical and aesthetic laser treatments under the direction of Dr. med. Sandra Mühlebach-Knopf, an FMH specialist in general internal medicine with additional certificates in sports medicine and in laser treatments of the skin. The practice offers medical treatments such as laser acupuncture and low level laser therapy, together with aesthetic treatments including laser hair removal, treatment of pigment spots and small facial veins, skin rejuvenation and scar treatment with laser. The practice emphasizes personalized care for clients seeking medical or aesthetic improvements in the Lucerne region.

###

For more information about Laserpraxis Mühlebach, contact the company here:Laserpraxis MühlebachDr. med. Sandra Mühlebach-Knopf+41 41 460 00 21laserpraxis.muehlebach@gmail.comEichhofstrasse 16205 EichSwitzerland

Laserpraxis Mühlebach

Laserpraxis Mühlebach in Eich, Canton of Lucerne, is a medical practice for aesthetic and medical laser treatments led by Dr. med. Sandra Mühlebach-Knopf, FMH specialist in general internal medicine.

Website: https://laserpraxismuehlebach.ch/

Email: laserpraxis.muehlebach@gmail.com

Phone: +41 41 460 00 21

LASERPRAXIS
DR. MED. MÜHLEBACH