BiggerPockets Adds Covered to Its Marketplace to Help Landlords Lower Insurance Costs Across Their Portfolios

November 10, 2026

Denver, Colorado - November 10, 2026 -
Covered Insurance Solutions ("Covered"), a digital insurance agency and technology platform, today announced a partnership with BiggerPockets, the largest professional network for real estate investors. Covered is now available in the BiggerPockets Marketplace, giving their free members a faster way to shop for landlord and investment property insurance across their entire portfolio, plus coverage for their own home and auto.

The partnership marks a major step in Covered's expansion into the real estate investment sector. After years of embedding insurance into the mortgage process for lenders, servicers and financial institutions, Covered is now bringing the same insurance expertise directly to the investors who own and operate rental properties across the country. Investors can also turn to Covered to give their tenants an easy way to find renters insurance.

Most landlords budget for insurance as a fixed cost and rarely revisit it once a policy is in place. For investors focused on cash flow, it's one of the few line items they can change quickly, and the savings grow with every property they own.

That opportunity has grown as insurance has become one of the fastest-increasing costs in a rental portfolio. Rising premiums, shifting carrier appetite and tighter underwriting in many states mean that policies that worked at purchase can look very different a few renewals later. Investors who set and forget their coverage often don't notice until the margin on a property has already shrunk.

The challenge compounds as portfolios grow. Insuring a portfolio on your own can mean a separate call, a separate quote and a separate stack of paperwork for each door. Investors juggling acquisitions, renovations and tenant management rarely have time to shop every policy every year, so many simply renew whatever they have.

With this new partnership, BiggerPockets members can request a free quote in minutes, right from the BiggerPockets website. From there, Covered's licensed agents, who specialize in landlord and investment property coverage, shop more than 80 top-rated carriers to find competitive options for each property. Once a member chooses coverage, Covered's agents finalize policies across the portfolio. At renewal, Covered re-shops coverage to keep rates competitive year after year, which means investors don't even have to think about it themselves. Covered customers who switch their homeowners insurance save an average of $1,240 a year.

?Real estate investors watch every line item in their portfolio, but insurance is often the one they set at closing and never revisit,? said Jeff Medley, Senior Vice President of Operations at Covered. ?BiggerPockets has built a community of people who care about every dollar of cash flow. Our carrier panel is ready to protect every asset they own, from each rental property to their primary home and vehicle. We want to be the one place they go for all of their insurance, so they never have to think about it again.?

The partnership builds on Covered's roots in the housing market. Covered was founded to solve insurance challenges inside the mortgage and real estate industries, and today the company works with mortgage lenders, servicers, and financial institutions to embed affordable and adequate insurance coverage solutions into the borrower journey, from closing through the lifetime of the loan.

Working with BiggerPockets? free members extends that model to a highly active and engaged community within the real estate sector. Investors typically need not just one, but many insurance policies, meaning the right insurance partner can find them savings that multiply across their portfolio.

"Every part of the real estate transaction touches insurance, and investors feel that more than anyone because they're doing it over and over," said Ross Diedrich, CEO of Covered. "Partnering with BiggerPockets puts us in front of millions of people who are actively building portfolios. It's a natural fit for where Covered is headed, and we plan to keep building partnerships that bring better insurance experiences to every corner of real estate."

For BiggerPockets, the partnership is part of an ongoing expansion of its Marketplace with tools that help everyday investors keep more of what they earn. By adding Covered, BiggerPockets gives its free members a way to tackle one of the most overlooked costs in their portfolios without leaving the platform they already use to research markets, analyze deals and connect with other investors.

?Rising insurance costs come up constantly in our community, and for investors with multiple properties, shopping every policy is time-consuming,? said Eric Augustyn, CEO of BiggerPockets. ?Covered?s focus on landlord and investment property coverage makes them a strong addition to our Marketplace. Lower premiums mean more cash flow, and more cash flow means more doors.?

BiggerPockets members can get a free, no-obligation quote right here.

Covered is an independent insurance agency. Quotes and coverage are provided by the carriers, and availability varies by state.

About Covered

Covered is the leading digital insurance platform built for the mortgage industry. Trusted by well over a hundred mortgage lenders, servicers, and banks, including multiple top-10 U.S. banks and several of the country's largest mortgage servicers, Covered connects borrowers to a curated panel of top-rated carriers across all 50 states. Borrowers who shop with Covered save an average of $1,240 per year on their homeowners policy*. By embedding insurance into both origination and servicing workflows and pairing technology with licensed agent expertise, Covered helps lenders shorten cycle times, reduce closing friction, and support borrowers across the life of the loan. Coverage, availability, and terms vary by carrier, product, and state. Learn more at itscovered.com.

About BiggerPockets

For over two decades, BiggerPockets has been at the forefront of making real estate investing accessible through a powerful network of peers and professionals, real-time insights, and investor tools. Powered by a community of more than 3 million members, BiggerPockets is the definitive platform to start and scale your portfolio no matter where you are in your real estate investor journey. For more information, visit biggerpockets.com.

*Average annual savings reported by Covered customers who switched in 2025. Individual results vary.

###

For more information about Covered, contact the company here:CoveredGreg Kassardjiangkassardjian@itscovered.com

Covered

Covered Insurance is a digital insurance marketplace that helps lenders, servicers, and fintechs embed personalized insurance offers into their platforms.

Website: https://itscovered.com

Email: gkassardjian@itscovered.com