

Nutrition Certifications and Food Journal Sale Announced At VeniceNutrition.com

June 27, 2016

June 27, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Venice Nutrition announced this week that its popular online nutrition certification program as well as its consumer nutrition program with an all new updated meal planning software would be offered at a discounted rate during the next two weeks at VeniceNutrition.com. The annual sale will begin on June 17th and remain available until July 10th

The certification program is described as being "designed for health coaches and fitness professionals passionate about helping others achieve their health goals and who want to begin or grow a nutrition consulting business". Venice Nutrition and the IBNFC Medical Board have created a Nutrition Certification and Licensing System that allows fitness trainers and professionals to legally coach clients and have their own consulting business.

The program includes an Internationally recognized Nutrition Certification, a turn-key Licensing package to seamlessly and quickly start a consulting business, and the most advanced education and support system in the Industry. The purpose of the summer discount for the certification course is to provide training to fitness and health pros on professional level nutrition skills during the slower summer months so they can add nutrition coaching to their business in the busy Fall season.

The food journal program for members, which the certification gives fitness and health pros the right to sell to their own clients, shares the scientific knowledge necessary to turn on the body's metabolic engine, and provides continuous education on hormones, the digestive system and the science of food, exercise, sleep and stress.

The company's founder, internationally recognized nutrition expert, TV personality, and health coach Mark MacDonald explained, "By stabilizing your blood sugar levels with the right food, you create balance which allows your body to release stored body fat, toxins and excess sodium, while protecting lean muscle mass and igniting metabolism."

The Venice Nutrition Certification program was released in conjunction with the IBNFC Medical Board. The Board is made of leaders in their individual fields joined together to form the International Board of Nutrition and Fitness Coaching (IBNFC). The IBNFC oversees all Medical Parameters of the Venice Nutrition Program and in addition continues to add research to each wellness presentation and program. The IBNFC also governs and confirms the validity of all testing material for each Nutrition Coach Certification.

Visit www.venicenutrition.com for more information.

###

For more information about Venice Nutrition, contact the company here: Venice Nutrition Mark MacDonald 866-700-1524 info@VeniceNutrition.com 5805 State Bridge Rd. Suite G280 Duluth, GA 30097

Venice Nutrition

Venice Nutrition Certifications and Health Coach Services provide medical board certified programs for fitness professionals to teach nutrition to their customers, as well as nutrition coaching for individuals with health coach Mark MacDonald.

Website: <http://venicenutrition.com/>

Email: info@VeniceNutrition.com

Phone: 866-700-1524

