

Private Dentist Victoria London Expands Patient Diary With New Appointments in November 2026 at McKennell Dental Practice

November 18, 2026

LONDON, UK - November 18, 2026 -
McKennell Dental Practice has expanded its patient diary with new appointments from 10th November 2026. The additional slots are open to patients in Victoria, London, who are interested in private dental care. New and existing patients can book a consultation to discuss their dental needs with the dentist, from routine check-ups to more specific concerns.

Dr Mori Shahid, Principal Dentist at McKennell Dental Practice, said timely appointments matter for patients. ?Many dental problems are easier to assess when they are picked up early,? she noted. ?Adding new appointment slots to the diary is intended to shorten the wait for a first appointment, though availability will still depend on clinical demand.?

In private dental care, arranged directly between the patient and the dental practice, regular attendance matters because many oral health problems, including early decay and gum disease, can develop without obvious symptoms. An examination can identify them at an early stage, and early identification may allow simpler treatment, although the pathway in any individual case depends on the specific findings.

At McKennell Dental Practice, a private consultation begins with an examination of the teeth, gums, and surrounding oral structures. The dentist reviews the patient?s dental and medical history, asks about any concerns, and may take X-rays where clinically indicated. Any recommended treatment is then explained, including what each stage involves and how long it is likely to take, and patients can ask questions and weigh their options before agreeing to proceed. Dental anxiety is a recognised barrier to seeking care, so the team adjusts the pace of appointments for anxious patients, allowing more time to settle before any treatment begins.

Key aspects to consider when choosing a private dentist in Victoria are discussed at: https://smile4u.co.uk/dentist-pimlico-london-victoria/best-private-dentist-qualities/.

A study published in the Journal of Public Health Dentistry, titled ?Evidence of Effectiveness of Preventive Dental Care in Reducing Dental Treatment Use and Related Expenditures? (DOI: 10.1111/jphd.12262), by Nadereh Pourat, Moonkyung Kate Choi, and Xiao Chen, found that among Medicaid enrollees across the ten largest counties in California, regular preventive dental care was associated with lower use of restorative, prosthodontic, and periodontal treatments. The researchers concluded that routine preventive dental visits were associated with reduced need for more costly treatments within that study population. These findings are specific to the Medicaid population studied and should not be generalised as expected outcomes for all patients or dental settings.

McKennell Dental Practice is a private dental practice in Pimlico, close to Victoria, serving patients across Central London. The practice team provides general and cosmetic dental care, with patients attending for routine check-ups, fillings, extractions, hygiene appointments, and restorative treatments, depending on their clinical needs. Patients are seen on an individual basis, and treatment pathways are determined by clinical assessment rather than a fixed protocol. Decisions about treatment are made with a clear understanding of what is involved.

General dentistry covers everyday oral health needs. Examinations assess the teeth and gums for issues such as decay, gum disease, and erosion, fillings repair cavities, extractions are carried out where a tooth cannot be saved, and hygiene appointments remove plaque and tartar that brushing and flossing may not fully address. Where a problem is identified, the clinical pathway depends on the individual presentation and the patient?s overall oral health.

Cosmetic and restorative treatments sit alongside general care, addressing the appearance and function of the teeth. The options that are suitable depend on the condition of the teeth and gums and on what the patient wishes to achieve, and the dentist talks through the choices during the consultation.

Appointments can be arranged by contacting the practice directly. Patients may find it helpful to note their main concerns or any symptoms beforehand. McKennell Dental Practice welcomes patients from Victoria, Pimlico, and the wider Central London area, including those considering private dental care for the first time.
