Bloomin' Blinds of Woodstock & Milton Named My Woodstock and Canton Best of 2026 Window Treatment Company

November 20, 2026

WOODSTOCK, GA - November 20, 2026 -
Bloomin' Blinds of Woodstock & Milton has been recognized as the My Woodstock/Canton Best of 2026 Best Window Treatment Company, an honor determined by community nominations and votes through the annual awards program hosted by Atlanta Best Media. The designation places the locally-owned window treatment company among the top performers across the Woodstock and Canton areas.

The Best of 2026 awards highlight standout businesses and professionals across categories ranging from home improvement and design to health, dining, and professional services. Winners earn their place based on the preferences of residents who participate in the nomination and voting process each year, making the recognition a reflection of local sentiment rather than industry judging.

Bloomin' Blinds of Woodstock & Milton is a family-operated company that sells and installs custom window treatments, including blinds, shades, shutters, and drapery for both residential and commercial spaces. The business also provides repair services for existing window treatments, combining personalized local service with the resources of a national brand.

"This recognition reflects the trust that families and businesses throughout the community have placed in our team over the years," said Kobie Johnson, the owner of Bloomin' Blinds of Woodstock & Milton. "Being selected by the people who live and work in these neighborhoods carries a meaning that extends well beyond any single project."

The company offers a broad range of interior window treatment options, including roller and solar shades for glare and heat control, cellular honeycomb shades known for insulation, roman shades, and traditional and faux wood blinds. Motorization and smart controls are available with battery, plug-in, and hardwired power options, along with handheld remotes, keypads, app control, and integration with common smart-home systems.

"Window treatments do more than finish a room," Johnson added. "They manage light, privacy, and comfort every day, and the goal is always to deliver solutions that hold up over time. Those interested can visit our website to review the full range of services available."

Beyond interior treatments, the business also installs exterior shades and awnings, retractable patio screens, and pergola solutions, and it serves commercial and trade clients with blackout applications, after-hours installation, and multi-site project management.

The Best of 2026 results are published alongside winners in other home improvement categories, reflecting the depth of businesses serving the region. Community members can visit our window blinds, shades, shutters, and screens Facebook page to view recent installations and project examples.

Bloomin' Blinds of Woodstock & Milton serves residential and commercial clients throughout the Woodstock, Milton, and Alpharetta areas. The company specializes in custom window treatment design, installation, motorization, exterior shading, and repair services, with a focus on tailoring each solution to the specific needs of the space while supporting light management, privacy, and long-term functionality.
