May 15, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Backyard Organics, an organic lawn care company in Oshkosh, WI, has recently announced that they are offering a new range of organic lawn care products. These products are designed to help people have beautiful lawns and gardens, while at the same time protecting their family, pets and the planet.

"We believe that the world is ready to go fully organic," says Todd Rockweit, owner of Backyard Organics. "More and more people understand just how toxic most lawn care products actually are, and how much damage they can cause. Indeed, some of these chemicals have been made illegal in many states. We want to make sure that people can look after their gardens and lawns, and look after their own health at the same time."

The new organic lawn care products offered by the company are designed to help people create and maintain natural and healthy lawns and gardens. These products are based on the individual environment, looking at three main factors: the current climate, the current condition of the soil and the needs of the customer. Combining these three factors means that a lawn will, at all times, be in perfect condition.

The goal is to create a lawn and overall garden that improves on the health of the soil, and thereby the health of the environment and the people and animals who live on it. The products are designed in such a way that they actually become self-sustainable. This means that the lawn will remain safe and will require less and less time to maintain and look after.

Backyard Organics has offered various services and organic lawn care products for years. To date, they have been highly recommended by those who have used them. Reviews highlight not just the quality of products but also the fantastic quality of service that the company offers.

"I am happy we switched to your company for the maintenance of our property," says Kevin D., owner of Remax Valley Realtors. "I'll be honest. I was cautiously optimistic at first. You told me it would work, so I went along with it. You have met and succeeded my expectations. Our lawn is better than ever and our trees and landscaping are kept well groomed. I have noticed the little things you have been doing and appreciate it. You sweep our parking lot, pick up litter and kill the weeds coming through the little cracks in the pavement. I will gladly renew our contract with you."

The range of products offered by Backyard Organics can be seen on backyardorganics.net. They offer various types of lawn applications as well as top dressing, weed control, pest and disease control, mosquito protection and more. All of these solutions are completely organic and will protect health and the environment as a whole.
