Villa Rental Specialist LA MER Homes Introduces Three Private Pool Villas on Mykonos for the 2027 Season

November 27, 2026

PARALIMNI, CYPRUS - November 27, 2026 -
LA MER Homes, a holiday villa rental company headquartered in Paralimni on the east coast of Cyprus, has announced that it will add three villas on the Greek island of Mykonos to its portfolio for the 2027 season, a move that takes the company into the Cyclades for the first time and extends a presence in Greece that has until now been limited to Crete and Corfu.

The three properties, Villa Astra, Villa Iris and Villa Pela, will be offered on the same self-catering basis that has shaped the company's business in Cyprus, with each one built around a private swimming pool. They widen a collection concentrated along the southeastern coast of Cyprus, in Protaras, Ayia Napa, Pernera, Kapparis, Cape Greco, Paralimni and Xylofagou, with further homes in Larnaca, alongside the smaller group of villas on Crete and Corfu that the business already lists.

Villa Astra, the largest of the three, has seven bedrooms and stands in the Agios Sostis and Panormos area on the north coast of the island, a part of Mykonos generally associated with quieter beaches and a slower pace than the busier southern shoreline. Its outdoor space is arranged around a pool measuring 10 meters by 5 meters, with a depth of 1.8 meters, and the property provides parking for up to five vehicles, a practical consideration on an island where many visitors rely on rental cars to move between beaches and villages.

Villa Iris and Villa Pela are both located in Kalafatis, a coastal settlement on the eastern side of Mykonos roughly 12 kilometers from Mykonos Town, the island's main harbor and commercial center. Villa Iris has five bedrooms and accommodates up to 12 guests, which makes it suited to extended families or groups of friends traveling together, while Villa Pela, which also has five bedrooms, sleeps up to 10 guests and includes a pool of 10 meters by 5 meters with a depth of 2 meters.

Each villa will carry its own listing on lamerhomes.com, where travelers planning a stay in 2027 can view availability and arrange reservations directly with the company, following the same relationship between guest and operator that LA MER Homes maintains across its properties in Cyprus. Further details for each property, including bedroom layouts and outdoor facilities, will be published on the individual listings as the new season approaches.

"Adding Mykonos gives the families and groups who stay with us in Cyprus another island to choose from, and it sits comfortably alongside the homes we already offer in Crete and Corfu," said a spokesperson for LA MER Homes. "Astra, Iris and Pela each have their own character, and we wanted villas where guests could enjoy space, privacy and a pool of their own while staying within easy reach of the island's beaches and villages. We are looking forward to welcoming the first guests in 2027."

LA MER Homes is based in Paralimni and relies on a local, Cyprus-based team to manage its east coast portfolio. Its guests come largely from the United Kingdom and other European countries, and its properties tend to be chosen by families, couples and groups who prefer a private villa to hotel accommodation. Villas in the Cyprus collection come equipped as standard with private pools, full kitchens, parking, wireless internet and air conditioning, and airport transfers are available for eligible stays on the island. The company also publishes guides to the areas where its villas are located, covering beaches, dining and local attractions.

Mykonos, one of the Cyclades islands in the central Aegean Sea, is served by an international airport and by ferry routes from the Greek mainland and neighboring islands, and it has long attracted international visitors with its beaches, whitewashed villages and windmills. The villa market there differs in character from the resort coastline of eastern Cyprus, since properties tend to be scattered across hillsides and coves rather than clustered around a single resort strip, and the three villas joining the LA MER Homes portfolio reflect that spread, with one on the north coast and two on the east.

The additions broaden the company's reach in the eastern Mediterranean, taking a business rooted in the coastline around Protaras and Ayia Napa to a third Greek island destination. For travelers in the United Kingdom, where most of its guests are based, the change means one villa operator now covers holidays in Cyprus, Crete, Corfu and the Cyclades.

"We will keep the same approach on Mykonos that guests know from Cyprus, with clear information about every villa and a direct line to our team from the moment they book," the spokesperson added.

LA MER Homes is a holiday villa rental company based in Paralimni, Cyprus, offering self-catering villas with private pools in Protaras, Ayia Napa, Pernera, Kapparis, Cape Greco, Larnaca, Paralimni and Xylofagou, as well as in Crete, Corfu and, from 2027, Mykonos. The company serves families, couples and groups, mainly from the United Kingdom and Europe, and handles reservations directly through its website, lamerhomes.com.
