

Streaming Media Device Hailed For Excellent Quality And Customer Support

July 11, 2016

July 11, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

xmWiredTV LLC, a business in Keller, TX, that was established in May 2015, has announced that people have been hailing their streaming media device for its excellent quality and customer support. The company was established because the founders saw a need for better quality streaming media devices, particularly with regards to user friendliness. The company has excelled in this market in just a short time and many people now use their TV box, which is available through <http://www.xmwiredtv.com/>.

Mark DeLanney Sr from xmWiredTV says: "We have the most advanced, up-to-date technology available in all of our boxes. We have rapidly excelled in this fast growing and very competitive market, thanks to the quality of our TV box and our excellent customer service."

The company offers 24/7 customer support. Additionally, their box automatically updates all the add-ons. As can be seen on <https://www.facebook.com/groups/XMWiredTV/>, the company aims to always educate their customers and provide the newest content available, thereby ensuring their experience in streaming media is a pleasant one. Numerous customers have stated that they often purchase online boxes but then do not receive the support they need in order to truly learn about how streaming can work in their favor.

"We will personally walk each customer through the box during set up so they know what to do and how to do it," adds Mark DeLanney Sr. "I even take calls personally up to until midnight seven days a week, so if I have a customer who needs any added help, or if someone has a problem with something, they know they can count on me to be there."

Customers have expressed satisfaction for the product and the service that they received. For example, a Facebook user says, "I had been checking out the XM Wired TV for a while since my wife saw it at a home show. I have to admit I was a skeptic about this box. We now own one and I am ready to drop my satellite services and put up an HD antenna. I was able to figure out how to use and update it with the you tube videos provided by Mark. I have recommended to many people including my father."

xmWiredTV is also set to launch another product very soon, which is the Virtual Reality Glasses that has 3D and 360 viewing. The company will carry the model that is used with customers' mobile phone and computer to provide total immersion. Furthermore, the company is looking at 3D pens and 3D printers for children.

People are encouraged to like xmWiredTV on Facebook, <https://www.facebook.com/xmwiredtv/>, to remain up-to-date with latest developments and the launch details for the new virtual reality glasses and more.
