

ProvisionSEO Takes New Approach To YouTube Marketing

July 11, 2016

July 11, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

ProvisionSEO, a business in Gondomar, Portugal, has released a new training series showing people how to create multiple YouTube channels for live streaming, while at the same time benefiting from the rankings of aged YouTube accounts. Put together, this enables businesses to grow their ranking and attract more clients to their site.

Bernardo from ProvisionSEO says: "YouTube is an incredibly strong marketing tool, but one that continues to be under-utilized. I can show clients how they can create 65 channels with an aged YouTube account without phone verification. To be safe, you must not live stream more than three or four videos per channel per day. If you do the math, that equates to 165 new videos each day."

ProvisionSEO aims to allow clients to gain exponential growth for their business. YouTube marketing is one of the company's personal strong points, and something that has set them apart from many other SEO companies. Not only do they offer training on how to get the most out of aged YouTube accounts, they also enable people to purchase aged accounts should they not have one themselves.

Furthermore, ProvisionSEO provides a range of free resources to train their clients on how to use YouTube for online marketing. Instructional videos have been provided on how to create the 65 channels mentioned above, and also on checking the rankings of new vs aged accounts, checking keyword rankings, how to find out the age of a YouTube account, uploading live stream videos and checking their rankings, and more.

"My goal is to make sure people are empowered to get the most out of this unique and powerful marketing tool," adds Bernardo. "I have released a number of instructional videos, but I also recommend everybody to sign up to my mailing list so that they can receive frequent updates and news about new videos and more."

Those who sign up to the mailing list will learn about the best YouTube accounts for promotion. Furthermore, they will gain access to case studies, be informed about any website updates, and are first to know about any discounts made available.
