The New Jersey Supreme Court has recently concluded, in findings released by the Committee on the Unauthorized Practice of Law, that non-lawyers who apply the law to a Medicaid applicant's specific circumstances are engaging in the unauthorized practice of law. Fendrick & Morgan LLC in the Voorhees Township, New Jersey, have announced services to assist clients, and to help them avoid legal issues as well.

Jamie Shuster Morgan, Esquire, of Fendrick & Morgan, LLC, states that "the unauthorized practice of law in Medicaid planning is becoming an increasingly troublesome issue. Clients need to have confidence that they are working with qualified professionals when attempting to navigate through the forever-changing myriad of Medicaid rules and regulations. At Fendrick & Morgan, LLC, we concentrate a significant portion of our practice on Medicaid and asset protection planning. We are ready, willing and able to assist our clients best preserve assets from long term care costs."

Atty. Morgan states that the firm has a strong concentration in the area of Medicaid planning, and offers assistance to clients that will help them to properly apply. The law firm says that in addition to assisting with legal document preparation, they can help with asset protection planning to ensure that all aspects are met for qualifying for this government benefit. The firm handles applications for clients in New Jersey as well as Pennsylvania. Those wishing to learn more about the various services can visit their official website.

Medicaid is a government benefit that provides medical care for those in need. Fendrick & Morgan LLC assists clients in applying for this benefit, which could significantly offset the costs associated with long term care or assisted living. Qualifying for Medicaid is often critical to seniors who do not have adequate retirement or other means of paying for long term services. The firm states that they can consult with clients to help them determine if they are eligible for this benefit and if so, they can assist them in filing the application properly to ensure that the process takes as little time as possible. Those interested can schedule a consultation via the firm's website.
