July 14, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Australian Lattice and Timber, a business in Dandenong South, Victoria, has announced that they have expanded their delivery area for their paling fencing boards to include Melbourne as well. The company noted that more and more people are looking at having more wood installed in their garden to enjoy its natural look.

Peter Clarke from Australia Lattice & Timber says: "Paling fences are great for complete backyard fencing as they provide a beautiful look and can be constructed at various heights to ensure complete privacy, which is the reason why you need fencing around your property. We have been known for our high quality fencing materials around Dandenong for some time now, and we're really happy to announce that we can now also deliver to Melbourne."

The company offers a number of high quality lattice and timber solutions. They enable people to purchase these woods directly and install them as part of a DIY project, or they can choose to have them installed professionally as well. This installation service is now also available in Melbourne.

Peter Clarke encourages everyone to visit the company's website at australianlatticeandtimber.com.au to see their full range of products. While they currently have a strong focus on paling fences, they also offer a wealth of other products to ensure people are able to purchase everything they need to create their perfect fence.

"We have a really nice gallery of pictures available on our website to show people what they can achieve with our products," adds Clarke. "Everything you see on those pictures can be made with our products. We sell everything from the panels to protection oil, to frames. And we also have a lot of advice available on our site to show people how they can create the looks we have made available as a DIY project."

The company also encourages people to visit their showroom in Dandenong South for those who are in that area. However, all products are also available on their website. Meanwhile, more details about paling fencing are available at <http://australianlatticeandtimber.com.au/paling-fencing/>, where it is also possible to place an order.
