

Prince Georges County Company Announces Financing Options For Solar Panels

July 15, 2016

July 15, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Solar Power Crew in Prince George's County Maryland, has announced that they are offering a zero money down financing option for the installation of their solar panels. The company performs solar installations in and around the PG County region. Meanwhile, Myles Jackson, owner of Solar Power Crew says, "There are so many benefits to installing solar panels for homeowners, and this new financing option is just another way that you can really save money on your energy bills."

Jackson says that the financing program allows homeowners to have the solar panels installed without paying anything upfront, which enables them to realize the maximum benefit of solar, without any upfront risk. He states that they are combining the most popular benefit of leasing solar power, which is no out of pocket costs with the financial upside from owning the solar panels for those who choose to upgrade to solar energy.

"And there are many reasons why everyone should be using solar energy," Jackson says. "Some consumers just don't realize the savings in money and the saving of our environment that comes along with this type of sustainable energy."

Jackson says that cost, of course, is the main benefit to having solar energy panels installed. Homeowners can save hundreds of dollars every year on the cost of their heating and cooling. He states that in addition to saving money, solar energy is sustainable and renewable, so it will always be available as opposed to various other energy sources, such as fossil fuels. Solar energy is clean energy, and solar panels require very little to no maintenance, another benefit that Jackson says consumers should pay attention to. The company states that the more people learn about solar energy and the benefits of using it, the more they will choose to have solar panels installed for their homes and businesses, an act which Jackson says everyone should be doing.

Solar Power Crew provides solar installations for home and business owners, and they state that the zero money down option is now available for homeowners. Those interested in learning more about this option or about the benefits of solar energy can visit the company online at www.solarpowercrew.com.
