

Contest To Win Christian Guitar Lessons Launched

July 18, 2016

July 18, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Jean Welles Worship Guitar, a business in Los Angeles, CA, has recently launched a new contest. The contest, which ends on July 24, 2016, enables people to win guitar lessons for Christian music in the form of DVDs, called 'Jean Welles Worship Guitar Class'. After entering, those who are able to earn over 100 points will also get another of their guitar instructional programs for free. Registering for the contest can be done online at <http://www.worshipguitarclass.com/wgc-lessons-contest.html>.

Jean Welles, founder of Jean Welles Worship Guitar, says: "I want to share my love for the guitar, and my love of Christ, with the world, and I want to encourage others to do the same. I have created a four part series of instructional videos to teach people how to play worship songs on their guitar properly and comfortably. The contest only requires people to share on social media in order to have a chance to win."

To earn points in the contest, participants and supporters share the contest on social media, where each referral is counted as 15 points. Registering for the contest is very simple and only requires people to enter their details. Jean Welles says that learning to play a musical instrument is good for your brain and learning worship music elevates the music to another dimension. Her goal is solely to enable people to learn how to be better musicians in servitude of Christ.

Besides guitar lessons, Jean Welles also offers worship guitar for children, playing piano by ear, music theory, Christian drum courses, and a piano course for Christians. Furthermore, she offers anyone who registers for her newsletter a free eBook on guitar playing tips and chord charts, to help that person get started with his or her guitar playing. People can register for the newsletter at <http://www.worshipguitarclass.com>.

Jean Welles Christian Guitar Lessons is also available on Facebook. "I want to have a strong focus on social media, as it enables me to communicate with more people and spread the message of our Lord," adds Jean Welles. "This is also why I have focused my contest on social media sharing."
