

Foxbrim Skin Care Product Among Amazon Prime Day Winners

July 19, 2016

July 19, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Foxbrim, based in Orlando, Florida, has announced that their line of skin care products were very successful on Amazon Prime Day and their lightning deals sold out much faster than projected. The company states that their Lavender Mist Face Toner, Coconut Milk and Honey Facial Cleanser, and their Orange Blossom Water Toner all sold out much sooner than expected.

"Our Foxbrim Lavender Mist Face Toner is really a customer favorite," says Luann Koerper with the company. "People love the scent and they love how smooth and clean it leaves their skin."

Koerper says that while the company did have the expectation that the products will be popular, they never thought that these would sell out as quickly as they did, or to be considered winners on Amazon Prime Day. She states that the company worked overtime to keep up with customer demand during the sale, and that they have experienced higher sales volume since the sale day on the marketplace as well.

"All of our products are popular," Koerper says. "Our customers love the scent of our Foxbrim Orange Blossom Water Toner, and it really does help to clear up skin and leave it feeling refreshed and clean."

The company states that all of their skin care products are made from quality ingredients, which is one reason customers purchase them so readily. Koerper states that they are much safer and healthier for skin than similar products that contain harsh chemicals or man-made ingredients.

Their third product to hit popularity during the sale is the Foxbrim Coconut Milk and Honey Face Cleanser, which the company states offers a tropical scent while providing a thorough cleansing. All products are designed to help balance pH levels in the skin, promoting a healthier, glowing complexion, and are natural, so they are much less likely, Koerper says, to cause irritation or allergic reactions, even on those with the most sensitive skin.

More about Foxbrim and their line of natural skin care products can be seen on their official Amazon seller's page, where all of the products that were featured as lightning deals during Prime Day can also be seen and purchased.
