Status Transportation in Winter Garden, Florida, recently announced the completion of Status Dispatch Soft. The product is a custom, in-house built software allowing to drivers to speed up load booking and instantly qualify shippers. It allows brokers to provide transparent and well organized settlement statements to owner operators, monitor safety, and basically track the entire trucking operation.

Erik Chavez of Status Transportation says, "We've basically streamlined the entire trucking process, making it easier and much more accurate for drivers to track their operations and brokers to provide data."

Chavez says that the Bureau of Transportation states that there are more than 1.2 million trucking companies in the nation, and that the company provides a great business model and service to owner operators, enabling them to provide a better service and making it easier to track operations. He adds that given the number of trucking companies currently in operations, it is imperative to provide an accurate method of keeping up with records. The company gives operators the option of choosing pay programs that are based on their operating region, and whether or not they have their own trailer.

"It's typically a win win situation between our company and our operators," says Chavez. "We provide a number of benefits, not the least of which is our new innovative software that will make it easier than ever to track your trucking operation."

A number of Status Transportation reviews can be seen on the company's official website, where specific information about the company and the benefits that they provide to truck operators and owners can also be seen. The company offers a trailer rental program, and provides customer service to ensure that their operators are satisfied at all times. Payment programs have been modified to meet the growing needs of those in the trucking industry, and the company now provides the new software to those who sign on, making it easier for drivers to keep track of their hours, thus making payments a much more streamlined process as well.
