

Paige Stainless Is First Australian Stainless Steel Manufacturer To Be Green Tag Certified

July 29, 2016

July 29, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Paige Stainless Fabrications, a business in Caboolture, Queensland, Australia, has announced with pride that they are the only Australian stainless steel manufacturer of Heelguard stainless grating that is currently Green Tag certified. So now they produce the highest quality stainless steel grates that are the preference of civil engineers, architects, and designers - and all with a Global Green Tag rating.

Kevin Finn from Paige Stainless says: "We are the only stainless steel fabricator in Australia producing Heelguard that is green tag and now LCA Certified, which is certainly an accomplishment, and has been manufacturing heelguard grating to the Australian Design Standard for the architectural industry for over 20 years!"

Those who specify stainless steel grates in buildings and other construction work consider the Paige Stainless products as their first choice because of their superior quality. In fact, their trademarked PAIGE STAINLESS HEELGUARD ® is now used in all major building developments, renovations, and architectural land mark areas in both Australia and overseas. These include water features, platform/stair podiums, viewing decks, civil drainage, entry mats, domestic linear shower drains, and line drainage. Furthermore, they can meet custom requirements such as tree surrounds, floor ventilation grillage, and bespoke surface water drains to name but a few.

They are encouraging everyone to visit the architectural grates section on their website to review some of the applications they are used in.

Green Tag is a green building product rating that is third party awarded. The certification system is based on a rigorous Life Cycle Assessment process. They offer an advanced, robust methodology which is developed and created exclusively by Ecospecifier. The fact that Paige Stainless Fabrications is the first stainless steel producer in Australia to receive the certification is a true testament to the quality of their work.

"I am proud to be part of the Australian manufacturing sector and more so, to be part of keeping Australian manufacturing alive and well," adds Kevin.

Paige Stainless has, since its inception, been committed to adhering to the best standards as much as possible. They have served as a best practice example for the entire industry. Now that they have received Green Tag Certification, it is hoped that many other manufacturers will follow suit. As such, they are contributing to making the world a better place from the design, manufacture through to the implementation of their products.
