Foxbrim, a company with headquarters in Orlando, FL, has recently introduced a number of new natural products to their beauty lineup. The hair and skin care brand is proud to present the latest item, which is a 100 percent pure organic neem oil that offers a number of uses.

Neem oil has been recognized for its hydrating and cell stimulating qualities. It has been found to work on hair, skin, face, nails, and even the scalp to minimize dry skin, and prevent early signs of aging. Foxbrim's neem oil is certified as organic, adding to their long lineup of natural products. The company writes: "An incredibly nutrient rich oil containing a high level of antioxidants and known for its antiseptic properties, Foxbrim's 100% Pure Organic Neem Oil is the perfect solution to repair and nourish hair, skin, nails and scalp. Saturated with essential fatty acids and Vitamin E, this incredible oil works to smooth fine lines and wrinkles, prevent signs of aging, give you soft silky hair and aid in treating and healing acne, psoriasis and eczema."

Foxbrim CEO Troy Johnston created the company to provide people with natural products they could enjoy and trust. Growing up with dealing with skin issues, Johnston has been candid in his understanding of how frustrating it can be to use a product which is meant to help skin, only to find that it hinders it instead. By only adding high-quality ingredients found in nature, Foxbrim brings clients products that they can feel comfortable and confident using.

Foxbrim's full line of 100% pure organic oils also includes castor oil, argan oil, jojoba oil, rosehip seed oil, and more. Some of the organic oil products are meant to be applied to specific areas, such as the company's natural makeup remover, or the argan oil hair repair serum, while others are simply meant to be applied as seen fit by the consumer.
