

SEO For Business Launches New Training Workshops For Corporates And Multinationals

July 28, 2016

July 28, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SEO for Business, based in London, United Kingdom, serves as a premium global SEO services provider. The business has recently extended their services and now provides training workshops for corporate and multinational professionals. The company is led by Sam Adodra, an Amazon best selling author. The workshop focuses on how to carry out search engine optimization (SEO) in house. More details are available at <http://seoforbusiness.com>.

Sam Adodra says: "We offer services to anyone who wants to boost their rankings, or who wants to achieve page one domination. With mobile browsing growing exponentially in the past few years, the days of placing your advert in telephone directories and generating new business through this medium are long gone. If you want targeted online traffic to your website then you need a strong online presence because customers are now searching for you through their smartphones."

The aim of the new training workshop is to help businesses boost the authority of their websites. They achieve this by helping websites show up higher in the search engines, as well as increasing the targeted traffic. Interested clients that want to outsource their SEO can choose from one of three packages, Gold, Silver, and Bronze. The Silver package is proving to be the most popular of the three.

"Our Silver Pack gets you more custom content that we will distribute on awesome sites for you," adds Sam Adodra. "We target five keywords with the domination pack. However, you will probably get more traffic and brand mentions beyond just the five keywords."

To get the most out of the Silver Pack, the company recommends that clients choose five focus key phrases. SEO for Business will then write a minimum of five original articles, and they will then create over 25 rewritten versions of those articles. Customers have the option of submitting additional content to the original five articles if they wish.

Those who have worked with SEO for Business have been very pleased with the services they have received. "SEO For Business are simply the best in the business," says Abir Khan on the SEO for Business website. "We've outsourced our SEO to them for a number of years. They have secured multiple page one rankings for our clients whom we build websites for."
