July 28, 2016 -
Colorado Springs, Colorado - An employment agency in Colorado Springs, CO, Express Employment Professionals, recently disclosed survey results declaring ?lack of available applicants? as the most prominent reason why jobs remain unfilled. This July, the agency launched a Hot Summer Jobs campaign, highlighting top jobs in the Colorado Springs area and drawing applicants to their Job Openings page as an attempt to fill more vacant jobs.

The survey of 340 businesses was published on April 20, 2016 and found that ?lack of available applicants? was thought to be the number one cause of jobs going unfilled. Subsequently, 26% of survey takes marked ?lack of experience? as a top reason while the remaining 15% said ?lack of hard skills?.

?We always strive to fulfill the jobs that match our applicants? needs,? says Katie Donahoo, the branch manager of the Colorado Springs office. ?With this campaign, if there isn't a job that fits your needs, take a look at other top jobs that will work better.?

Express Colorado Spring?s Hot Summer Jobs campaign guides applicants to their website?s Job Openings page by promoting a popular job in need of applicants.
